Reds Ask Liaison Parley; Wiley Scores Rhee Stand

Opinion Is Disaster Is Threatened

Says South Korean Loss Could Destroy Them and United Nations, Shatter Peace

Washington, July 7 (AP)—Sen. Wiley (R.-Wis.) declared today South Korean President Syngman Rhee is "playing with global dynamite" and damaging the cause of world peace by balking efforts for a Korean truce.

Wiley, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in a statement that Rhee's threat to carry on the fighting invites a possible military disaster which "could shatter the chances for world peace in our time."

"The brave South Korean boys who are holding two-thirds of the battle line today could by rash independent action — taking a suicidal offensive and severing themselves from the United Nations command—end up by destroying not only themselves but the United Nations," Wiley declared.

"A military disaster in Korea would mean a political disaster from which the UN might never recover. This could shatter the chances for world peace in our time. President Rhee has been playing with global dynamite."

Contrasts With Knowland

Wiley's attack on Rhee—tempered by praise of the South Korean president's "fine record as a spokesman for free peoples"—contrasted sharply with an earlier statement by Sen. Knowland (R.-Calif.)

Knowland, the acting GOP floor leader, said on a Sunday television program that the present breach might not have occurred if Rhee had been sufficiently consulted in advance by the Truman and Eisenhower administrations. Knowland said he had had no White House or State Department reaction to his statement. The White House declined comment.

Wiley said he was speaking only for himself and not for the Foreign Relations Committee "or for anyone else." But his words seemed to represent a growing vexation in the executive departments and Congress over Rhee's stubborn refusal to agree to armistice terms.

The Wisconsin senator accused Rhee of violating commitments to the United Nations command, evidently referring to Rhee's release of 27,000 prisoners.

'Venerable Patriot'

He added that Rhee is "a venerable patriot who has so courageously down through the years fought for his country" but said Rhee has carried his views to such an illogical extreme as to jeopardize the efforts of the free world to protect his country."

"President Rhee, in his patriotic zeal, has displayed an unfortunate extreme-ish, obstinacy, and arbitrariness which have caused infinite grief to the parents of every boy in the UN forces," Wiley declared.

"If the present situation deteriorates to its most dangerous potentialities, the lives of 300,000 American boys in South Korea will be directly endangered."

Rhee has threatened to ignore a UN-Communist cease-fire agreement if his demands aimed at a unified Korea are not met. His release of more than 27,000 anti-Communist North Korean prisoners of war last month disrupted a proposed armistice which was on the verge of being signed.

President Eisenhower's special emissary to Rhee, Walter S. Robertson, has been in Korea since June 25 trying to work out a compromise which Rhee will accept, so far without success.

Insists U. S. Promise

The South Korean President has insisted that the U. S. promise to resume fighting if post-armistice political talks with the Reds fail in 90 days to lead toward peaceful unification of the country. Robertson reportedly told Rhee the U. S. never can meet such a demand.

Wiley said he shared the feeling that Rhee's allies in the past had "not always treated him with the full respect to which he has been entitled."

"None of this alters the fact that we Americans abhor the idea that one man should endanger the peace of the world," Wiley continued, "we Americans have never accepted the idea of a man who says: "I'll have my way or else!"

Red Battalions Hit Hill Posts

Furious Battles Are Fought in Trenches Soaked by Four Days of Rain

Seoul, July 7 (AP)—More than 3,000 Chinese snapped four days of rainy silence on the Korean battlefront today with savage attacks against American and South Korean troops guarding hill positions on the western front.

Three beefed-up Red battalions charged through ankle-deep mud up the slopes of Pork Chop Hill and Arrowhead Ridge, about five miles apart.

The furious battles, fought in rain soaked trenches with pistols, gun butts and knives, opened late last night as the Reds boomed thunderous artillery and mortar barrages against the hills.

But after hours of fighting in which the Chinese surged up and down the slopes of both outposts, infantrymen of the U. S. Seventh Division and ROK Second Division were reported holding stubbornly.

Pork Chop Hill, defended by American troops, took the brunt of the Red attack, the first against U. S. troops since the Communists hit the Third Division June 18 at Outpost Harry north of Seoul.

Attacking behind a 15,000-round artillery and mortar barrage, some 1,000 Reds smashed Pork Chop in the pre-dawn darkness.

Failing to reach the crest, the Chinese sent another 1,000 troops against the muddied slopes.

At last report, the Seventh Division said it was holding the crest, eastern and forward slopes, with some Chinese on the western slope.

ROKs, hit by Red guns that slammed 8,500 rounds of artillery and mortars, hung grimly to the top of Arrowhead.

The Chinese, at last report, were trying to gain a foothold on the northern slope.

A tapering off of heavy rains that all but grounded allied planes the past three days allowed the Fifth Air Force to send some fighter bombers roaring over front lines.

Twenty F-84 Thunderjets swept low over Red positions in the Kumsong sector in the west, dropping napalm and high explosives on the Communists.

Night-flying B-26 bombers, aided by two C-47s lighting up the battlelines with flares, bombed Red positions near Pork Chop and Arrowhead. Results of the bombings were not evaluated.

Minor ground action was reported southeast of the Kumhwa-Kumsong road, where allied guns dispersed a Red attack.

An Eighth Army briefing officer said 34 patrol clashes flared elsewhere along the curving 155-mile front, mostly in the east-central and eastern sectors.

Might Give Answer on Armistice

Officers to Meet on 2nd Anniversary of First Meeting to Arrange Truce Talks

Seoul, July 7 (AP)—The Communists late today called for a meeting of liaison officers in Panmunjom tomorrow, touching off speculation they are ready to answer a UN proposal to sign a truce now whether or not South Korea objects.

The officers, who normally arrange meetings of the full armistice delegations, will meet at noon.

This new development came as an authoritative South Korean source said efforts to win President Syngman Rhee over to an armistice will fail unless the U. S. comes up with "a new proposal satisfactory to Rhee."

Recessed Since June 28

Armistice negotiations have been in recess since June 28 when Rhee freed some 27,000 anti-Red North Korean war prisoners. The truce agreement reportedly was ready to sign.

The liaison officers will meet on the second anniversary of the first meeting to arrange for the truce talks. On July 8, 1951, three U.S. officers flew to Kaesong to open talks the world hoped would lead to a speedy peace.

Gen. Mark Clark, UN Far East commander, asked the Communists June 29 to sign a truce even if Rhee refuses to go along. So far they have not answered.

President Eisenhower's truce envoy Walter S. Robertson did not meet with Rhee today—the third time in 12 days they have not conferred. The two may meet tomorrow.

'Up To Washington'

A South Korean government spokesman told a news conference the next move is "up to Washington."

Asked if he thought the talks had failed, the spokesman replied: "All I can say is that the talks are still continuing."

The Rhee-Robertson talks are deadlocked as a result of Rhee's stubborn insistence that the U. S. agree to resume fighting if a post-armistice political conference fails to progress toward peaceful unification of Korea within three months.

Robertson reportedly has told Rhee the U. S. never can meet such a demand.

A well-informed South Korean source said bluntly Tuesday that no progress toward an agreement can be expected unless Robertson produces a new proposal.

So far, he said, Rhee has rejected U. S. compromise plans because they offer him nothing concrete.

Robertson flew here June 25 in an effort to win South Korean cooperation in a truce negotiated—and all but signed—at Panmunjom.

He reportedly has offered Rhee a number of concessions in an attempt to win his support.

Would Stage Walkout

One highly competent source said last week that Robertson told Rhee the U. S. would stage a joint walkout with South Korea from a political conference if the Communists used the talks to shield military operations.

He cited Red infiltration into South Korea as a truce violation which might warrant such a walkout.

But Rhee reportedly snubbed the offer because it failed to meet his demand for a 90-day time limit.

The South Korean source said Rhee turned down another compromise calling for a joint walkout if the political conference failed to make progress toward peaceful unification of Korea within 90 days. Then, the source said, the two nations would discuss at top level various methods of unifying Korea, including possible resumption of the war. But any action would have to be ratified by the U. S. Senate.

Denies Plans Offered

A U. S. embassy spokesman in Seoul denied that Robertson had offered such a plan.

But the South Korean source, who is close to secret talks, swore that it had been offered and rejected because Rhee disliked the provision requiring Senate ratification of any agreed upon action to unify Korea.

The source said the 78-year-old Rhee is adamant in his insistence that the U. S. provide solid guarantees that it will unify Korea either by negotiation or war.

While the talks were in recess, South Korean students and a few elderly folk paraded through the streets of Seoul chanting anti-truce slogans.

President Might Send Him There as Goodwill Ambassador

Washington, July 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower is contemplating sending Vice President Nixon on a trip to Asia as a goodwill ambassador after Congress adjourns.

Although plans still are in the formative stage, those who reported the President's intention said the State Department is working on an itinerary which would take the vice president to most of the non-Communist countries in the Far East in what might wind up eventually as a trip around the world.

Eisenhower was said to be well pleased by results obtained by Secretary of State Dulles and Mutual Security Directors Harold

Juan's Odyssey: Wrong-Way Hop And 3 Martinis

By EUGENE LEVIN

New York, July 7 (AP)—This is the odyssey of Juan Martinez,

Who started out for Puerto Rico and landed in Newfoundland,

Who repeated his name three times and got three martinis,

And who is finally on his way back home with a good natured view of his adventures (or misadventures).

Martinez, a one-legged man of 64, started his wanderings Sunday when he mistakenly boarded a Pan-American World Airways plane bound for Germany from Idlewild Airport.

He had been scheduled to depart at the same hour on a Pan-American flight for San Juan. Airplane officials did not notice that he was getting on the wrong plane.

The big airliner winged its way east on the four and a half hour hop to Gander, Newfoundland, as Martinez settled into his seat.

Soon a sewardess came along and asked:

"Manhattan or Martini?"

So He Gave His Name

The Puerto Rican, who speaks only Spanish, thought she was checking his name; so he replied: "Martinez."

He was handed a dry Martini.

Twice more he was asked the same question, gave the same reply, and received the same refreshment.

When the plane landed at Gander, Martinez promptly noticed he was in a cooler clime than San Juan.

He made inquiries, and the mistake was uncovered.

Airline officials put him up overnight at Gander, and sent him back to New York on the

Murray Says Building Could Care for 90 Patients; Plans Prepared

The Kingston Common Council is expected to consider at its meeting tonight the proposal that it deed the former city home on Flatbush avenue to the county for use as a chronic hospital for elderly county residents.

Plans have been prepared, at the direction of the Board of Supervisors, for the renovation of the three-story and basement building to care for approximately 90 patients, Edward Murray, Ulster county welfare commissioner, said today.

The Board of Supervisors committee on commissioner of welfare secured Architect Harry Halverson to prepare the preliminary plans and specifications for use if the city approves the transfer.

Estimated cost of the work is about $250,000.

Scope of Plans

Present plans, prepared for use if the city deeds the property to the county, call for renovation of the kitchen, establishment of a rehabilitation room, employes' dining room, and several semi-private rooms on the basement floor.

The first floor would contain a solarium, two five-bed wards, semi-private rooms, an examination room, office, in addition to rest rooms and the usual facilities which appear on each floor.

The second floor will also contain a solarium and will have three five-bed wards, four four-bed wards and three semi-private rooms.

The top floor will contain two three-bed rooms and six semi-private rooms.

There will be nurse's stations on each floor.

A large elevator will be in-

U. S. Had Biggest Construction Boom

Washington, July 7 (AP)—The first half of 1953 saw the biggest construction boom in U. S. history—16 billion dollars worth.

The Commerce and Labor Departments so reported yesterday, saying that even after allowing for higher costs, the building pace beat that of any previous period, including World War 2.

Private building amounted to $10,900,000,000, including 739 million in commercial construction, up 43 per cent over the first half of 1952, and $5,400,000,000 in residential building, up nine per cent.

The remaining $5,100,000,000 was accounted for by public or governmentally - financed construction, including a record highway spending program and heavy outlays for atomic plants and other industrial facilities.

Plans Completed For Demonstration By Esopus Firemen

Plans were completed Monday night by chiefs of the five fire companies in the town of Esopus for a parade and demonstration on Thursday at 6:30 p. m., according to an announcement today urging public interest in the program of the volunteer firemen.

The program will take place in Port Ewen, the announcement said, and is designed to make the public conscious of service given by volunteer firemen to protect communities and furnish the basis for lower fire insurance rates.

Route of Parade

The parade will form on the intersection of the Sleightsburg road and Route 9W, proceed southerly to Stout avenue, to Green street, to Salem to Bayard, to Stout avenue to Ross Memorial Park where the marchers will disband.

Music for the parade will be

Leniency Is Shown To Czechs; Soviets Kill 46 Germans

Forced Labor Order Ends, Prague Says—West Zone Paper Tells of Executions

Vienna, Austria, July 7 (AP)—Soviet communism's new policy of leniency to its subject millions in east Europe moved today into Czechoslovakia, the fifth Russian satellite to ease up on underfed, rebellious masses.

Prague radio announced the Red Czech government is abolishing a decree ordering terms in forced labor camps for workers who stayed away from their jobs without good reason.

The law had been enacted a week ago, apparently to counter wide-spread absenteeism which followed repressive measures taken after riots and disturbances against the Communist Government in June.

The broadcast today said the Central Committee of the Czech Trade Union Federation had declared the absentee law "unnecessary" and had promised to keep the laborers at work.

Only First in Series

Western observers in Vienna speculated that this was only the first in a series of concessions for the Czech workers, who have been reported rioting in various cities following a currency revaluation which wiped out most of their savings.

Of the Kremlin's east European satellite governments, only Poland and Bulgaria have not yet announced policy modifications to counter the wave of unrest and rebellion reported sweeping the 70 million Red-held non-Soviets.

East Germany and Hungary have decreed an about-face from their previous emphasis on heavy industry, a slowdown in collectivization of agriculture, less police terror and return to some degree of private enterprise.

Romania has increased food rations and ordered amnesties for prisoners, many of them political offenders.

Tiny Albania late in June told her peasants she would forget about their failure to fill quotas of grain, eggs, wool and meat in the 1949-52 period.

46 Police Executed

Berlin, July 7 (AP)—The West Berlin newspaper Telegraf said today that 46 Communist German "Peoples' Police" have been executed by Russian firing squads for "disobeying orders and resisting the Red army" during the June 17 workers revolt in East Germany.

No source was given for the report, which is considerably higher than any previous estimate of the number of police executions. Refugee reports have confirmed, however, that the Red German police proved in the uprising that the Russians could not rely upon them against their own people. The "Vopos"—Volkspolizei—often refused to fire on rioters and sometimes even joined the rebels. Nearly 500 have fled to West Berlin in the last month.

Flemming Defends Cuts In Preparedness Program

Stores' Closing Is Now Controversy

Few Will Observe Monday Ruling Unless There Is New Agreement

The proposal that Kingston retail stores close Monday throughout the summer announced as a certainty last week has grown into a controversy with a few merchants willing to predict what the outcome will be.

The board of directors of the Uptown Business Men's Association met Tuesday last week and tabulated the results of questionnaires from member and non-member stores. They announced that afternoon through the association Secretary-Treasuer Robert B. O'Reilly that the majority of the stores in central and uptown sections would remain closed all day Monday throughout the summer to give their employes a five-day week.

Today it appeared that few of the stores will observe the Monday closing, unless a new agreement is reached before the end of the week.

Cards Are Removed

Printed cards announcing the Monday closing were removed from windows by a number of uptown merchants this morning.

After last week's announcement was made, several stores declared intention of remaining open Mondays. Stores in the same line of business, handling similar merchandise, then reconsidered

Says Kaiser Action Was Management Problem Only, Not ODM

Washington, July 7 (AP)—The office of Defense Mobilization today defended two recent cutbacks in the preparedness program as being in harmony with its newly announced policy of building and maintaining a broad industrial base for war production.

ODM Director Arthur S. Flemming said ODM was not consulted before the air force canceled Henry J. Kaiser's Willow Run plant out of the C-119 "Flying Boxcar" plane program.

But he said this was only a "management problem," not one having a major effect on the mobilization base.

The mobilizer gave prepared answers to a score of questions asked by newsmen in writing on the mobilization policy statement issued last night after cabinet approval. The statement commits the government to develop an industrial potential capable of supporting an all-out military effort, and designed to reduce the huge plant costs and two-year delay in full production experienced in World War 2.

Issue Not Involved

Flemming said the Kaiser cancellations, ordered while a Senate committee was probing the plant's costs, did not involve the issue of maintaining plants and equipment in readiness for full mobilization.

"It may be necessary to close secondary sources for various

Eisenhower Assigns Three To Better Liaison Contacts

Washington, July 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower, who reportedly has been unhappy about his administration's liaison work in some instances, moved yesterday to develop a closer relationship between the White House and the various federal agencies.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty announced three new White House staff assignments designed to improve liaisoh.

Hagerty said Walter Williams, undersecretary of commerce, and one of his aides, Stanley Rumbough, are joining the staff temporarily "to assist with liaison work with various departments of the government."

And Col. Paul T. Carroll, Eisenhower's liaison man with the Defense Department, will serve temporarily as acting secretary of the White House staff. He will work under Sherman Adams, the President's chief assistant, and probably will deal mainly with national security matters.

Hagerty said it will be Carroll's job to "follow through" on matters discussed at cabinet meetings and National Security Council sessions to make sure suggestions advanced there are put into practice.

Williams, Rumbough and Carroll will carry on their regular duties in addition to their temporary assignments.

Two weeks ago Eisenhower was reported in a knuckle-rapping mood because of failure of the ad-

Washington, July 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower is contemplating sending Vice President Nixon on a trip to Asia as a goodwill ambassador after Congress adjourns.

Although plans still are in the formative stage, those who reported the President's intention said the State Department is working on an itinerary which would take the vice president to most of the non-Communist countries in the Far East in what might wind up eventually as a trip around the world.

Eisenhower was said to be well pleased by results obtained by Secretary of State Dulles and Mutual Security Directors Harold

Juan's Odyssey: Wrong-Way Hop And 3 Martinis

By EUGENE LEVIN

New York, July 7 (AP)—This is the odyssey of Juan Martinez,

Who started out for Puerto Rico and landed in Newfoundland,

Who repeated his name three times and got three martinis,

And who is finally on his way back home with a good natured view of his adventures (or misadventures).

Martinez, a one-legged man of 64, started his wanderings Sunday when he mistakenly boarded a Pan-American World Airways plane bound for Germany from Idlewild Airport.

He had been scheduled to depart at the same hour on a Pan-American flight for San Juan. Airplane officials did not notice that he was getting on the wrong plane.

The big airliner winged its way east on the four and a half hour hop to Gander, Newfoundland, as Martinez settled into his seat.

Soon a sewardess came along and asked:

"Manhattan or Martini?"

So He Gave His Name

The Puerto Rican, who speaks only Spanish, thought she was checking his name; so he replied: "Martinez."

He was handed a dry Martini.

Twice more he was asked the same question, gave the same reply, and received the same refreshment.

When the plane landed at Gander, Martinez promptly noticed he was in a cooler clime than San Juan.

He made inquiries, and the mistake was uncovered.

Airline officials put him up overnight at Gander, and sent him back to New York on the

Murray Says Building Could Care for 90 Patients; Plans Prepared

The Kingston Common Council is expected to consider at its meeting tonight the proposal that it deed the former city home on Flatbush avenue to the county for use as a chronic hospital for elderly county residents.

Plans have been prepared, at the direction of the Board of Supervisors, for the renovation of the three-story and basement building to care for approximately 90 patients, Edward Murray, Ulster county welfare commissioner, said today.

The Board of Supervisors committee on commissioner of welfare secured Architect Harry Halverson to prepare the preliminary plans and specifications for use if the city approves the transfer.

Estimated cost of the work is about $250,000.

Scope of Plans

Present plans, prepared for use if the city deeds the property to the county, call for renovation of the kitchen, establishment of a rehabilitation room, employes' dining room, and several semi-private rooms on the basement floor.

The first floor would contain a solarium, two five-bed wards, semi-private rooms, an examination room, office, in addition to rest rooms and the usual facilities which appear on each floor.

The second floor will also contain a solarium and will have three five-bed wards, four four-bed wards and three semi-private rooms.

The top floor will contain two three-bed rooms and six semi-private rooms.

There will be nurse's stations on each floor.

A large elevator will be in-

U. S. Had Biggest Construction Boom

Washington, July 7 (AP)—The first half of 1953 saw the biggest construction boom in U. S. history—16 billion dollars worth.

The Commerce and Labor Departments so reported yesterday, saying that even after allowing for higher costs, the building pace beat that of any previous period, including World War 2.

Private building amounted to $10,900,000,000, including 739 million in commercial construction, up 43 per cent over the first half of 1952, and $5,400,000,000 in residential building, up nine per cent.

The remaining $5,100,000,000 was accounted for by public or governmentally - financed construction, including a record highway spending program and heavy outlays for atomic plants and other industrial facilities.

Plans Completed For Demonstration By Esopus Firemen

Plans were completed Monday night by chiefs of the five fire companies in the town of Esopus for a parade and demonstration on Thursday at 6:30 p. m., according to an announcement today urging public interest in the program of the volunteer firemen.

The program will take place in Port Ewen, the announcement said, and is designed to make the public conscious of service given by volunteer firemen to protect communities and furnish the basis for lower fire insurance rates.

Route of Parade

The parade will form on the intersection of the Sleightsburg road and Route 9W, proceed southerly to Stout avenue, to Green street, to Salem to Bayard, to Stout avenue to Ross Memorial Park where the marchers will disband.

Music for the parade will be

Leniency Is Shown To Czechs; Soviets Kill 46 Germans

Forced Labor Order Ends, Prague Says—West Zone Paper Tells of Executions

Vienna, Austria, July 7 (AP)—Soviet communism's new policy of leniency to its subject millions in east Europe moved today into Czechoslovakia, the fifth Russian satellite to ease up on underfed, rebellious masses.

Prague radio announced the Red Czech government is abolishing a decree ordering terms in forced labor camps for workers who stayed away from their jobs without good reason.

The law had been enacted a week ago, apparently to counter wide-spread absenteeism which followed repressive measures taken after riots and disturbances against the Communist Government in June.

The broadcast today said the Central Committee of the Czech Trade Union Federation had declared the absentee law "unnecessary" and had promised to keep the laborers at work.

Only First in Series

Western observers in Vienna speculated that this was only the first in a series of concessions for the Czech workers, who have been reported rioting in various cities following a currency revaluation which wiped out most of their savings.

Of the Kremlin's east European satellite governments, only Poland and Bulgaria have not yet announced policy modifications to counter the wave of unrest and rebellion reported sweeping the 70 million Red-held non-Soviets.

East Germany and Hungary have decreed an about-face from their previous emphasis on heavy industry, a slowdown in collectivization of agriculture, less police terror and return to some degree of private enterprise.

Romania has increased food rations and ordered amnesties for prisoners, many of them political offenders.

Tiny Albania late in June told her peasants she would forget about their failure to fill quotas of grain, eggs, wool and meat in the 1949-52 period.

46 Police Executed

Berlin, July 7 (AP)—The West Berlin newspaper Telegraf said today that 46 Communist German "Peoples' Police" have been executed by Russian firing squads for "disobeying orders and resisting the Red army" during the June 17 workers revolt in East Germany.

No source was given for the report, which is considerably higher than any previous estimate of the number of police executions. Refugee reports have confirmed, however, that the Red German police proved in the uprising that the Russians could not rely upon them against their own people. The "Vopos"—Volkspolizei—often refused to fire on rioters and sometimes even joined the rebels. Nearly 500 have fled to West Berlin in the last month.

Flemming Defends Cuts In Preparedness Program

Stores' Closing Is Now Controversy

Few Will Observe Monday Ruling Unless There Is New Agreement

The proposal that Kingston retail stores close Monday throughout the summer announced as a certainty last week has grown into a controversy with a few merchants willing to predict what the outcome will be.

The board of directors of the Uptown Business Men's Association met Tuesday last week and tabulated the results of questionnaires from member and non-member stores. They announced that afternoon through the association Secretary-Treasuer Robert B. O'Reilly that the majority of the stores in central and uptown sections would remain closed all day Monday throughout the summer to give their employes a five-day week.

Today it appeared that few of the stores will observe the Monday closing, unless a new agreement is reached before the end of the week.

Cards Are Removed

Printed cards announcing the Monday closing were removed from windows by a number of uptown merchants this morning.

After last week's announcement was made, several stores declared intention of remaining open Mondays. Stores in the same line of business, handling similar merchandise, then reconsidered

Says Kaiser Action Was Management Problem Only, Not ODM

Washington, July 7 (AP)—The office of Defense Mobilization today defended two recent cutbacks in the preparedness program as being in harmony with its newly announced policy of building and maintaining a broad industrial base for war production.

ODM Director Arthur S. Flemming said ODM was not consulted before the air force canceled Henry J. Kaiser's Willow Run plant out of the C-119 "Flying Boxcar" plane program.

But he said this was only a "management problem," not one having a major effect on the mobilization base.

The mobilizer gave prepared answers to a score of questions asked by newsmen in writing on the mobilization policy statement issued last night after cabinet approval. The statement commits the government to develop an industrial potential capable of supporting an all-out military effort, and designed to reduce the huge plant costs and two-year delay in full production experienced in World War 2.

Issue Not Involved

Flemming said the Kaiser cancellations, ordered while a Senate committee was probing the plant's costs, did not involve the issue of maintaining plants and equipment in readiness for full mobilization.

"It may be necessary to close secondary sources for various

Eisenhower Assigns Three To Better Liaison Contacts

Washington, July 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower, who reportedly has been unhappy about his administration's liaison work in some instances, moved yesterday to develop a closer relationship between the White House and the various federal agencies.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty announced three new White House staff assignments designed to improve liaison.

Hagerty said Walter Williams, undersecretary of commerce, and one of his aides, Stanley Rumbough, are joining the staff temporarily "to assist with liaison work with various departments of the government."

And Col. Paul T. Carroll, Eisenhower's liaison man with the Defense Department, will serve temporarily as acting secretary of the White House staff. He will work under Sherman Adams, the President's chief assistant, and probably will deal mainly with national security matters.

Hagerty said it will be Carroll's job to "follow through" on matters discussed at cabinet meetings and National Security Council sessions to make sure suggestions advanced there are put into practice.

Williams, Rumbough and Carroll will carry on their regular duties in addition to their temporary assignments.

Two weeks ago Eisenhower was reported in a knuckle-rapping mood because of failure of the ad-

Spinster Goes Out For Ice Cream; Trip Costs Her $18,000

Jersey City, N. J., July 7 (AP)—An 83-year-old spinster went out for a dish of ice cream yesterday and it cost her $18,000.

Here, according to police, is what happened to Miss Nellie Drain:

Feeling in the need of a cold refreshment, Miss Drain left her apartment for some ice cream at a nearby soda fountain.

She passed the time of day with a woman sitting on the next stool when a third woman joined them.

The new arrival breathlessly told of finding a large sum of money and of giving it to her boss in a nearby office building for safe-keeping.

Her boss advised against turning over the money to police since there were betting slips with it and they might suspect her she said.

Offered to Share Find

The women offered to share the find with Miss Drain if she would put up money to show good faith.

That sounded fair to Miss Drain so, accompanied by one of her new-found acquaintances, she went to a New York bank, withdrew $18,000 savings and handed it over to her companion. That left Miss Drain with $1,000.

When they got back to Jersey City the woman said she had to meet her friend at the boss' office and complete the deal. The $18,000 went with her.

Miss Drain waited and waited and then called police.

Gasoline Race Gets Hotter Among U.S. Oil Concerns

By WALTER BREEDE, JR.

New York, July 7 (AP)—Oil companies are in a red hot race to develop new gasolines and lubricants that will meet the requirements of today's super-powered high compression automobile engines.

Several new products have hit the market recently. None claims to be the final answer.

Petroleum scientists say one of the major problems of the modern auto engine—formation of carbon deposits in cylinder combustion chambers—is being attacked by the oil industry on three principal fronts.

Carbon formation is responsible for a wide variety of engine ills familiar to garage mechanics. Symptoms include pinging and knocking, power loss and increased fuel consumption. Sometimes the super-heated carbon deposits sparkle and glow, making the gas-air mixture in the cylinder explode at the wrong time—a difficulty known as "pre-ignition." This trouble, which plagued military flyers in World War 2, is a particularly characteristic ailment of the contemporary auto engine, oil experts say.

Aircraft Know-How Help

In their search for remedies oil industry scientists have borrowed heavily from the know-how they acquired in developing fuels and lubricants for wartime aircraft. Their studies led to the recent introduction, accompanied by national advertising campaigns, of three new types of filling station products:

1) New gasolines that are claimed to burn efficiently despite heavier-than-ordinary formations of carbon, gasolines with higher octane or "anti-knock" ratings, and gasolines that will resist the preigniting tendencies of glowing carbon particles.

2) Chemical additives which, when put into conventional gasolines, are said to prevent pre-ignition, sparkplug fouling and allied engine troubles.

3) New motor lubricants designed to prevent or substantially retard carbon formation, thus correcting the trouble at its source.

Blended Into Gasoline

Chemical additives are blended into the gasoline by the producer and are not generally available to the motorist in separate form—they're in the gas when he pulls up for a tankful. One such product now on the market is reported to achieve its effectiveness by neutralizing metallic salts which form in engine combustion chambers. These salts—a residue left by the tetraethyl lead with which most gasolines are treated—are believed to foul sparkplugs and make carbon deposits glow at lower-than-normal temperatures, thus contributing to pre-ignition. The additive was originally developed to overcome engine failures in the air force's D-36 bomber, according to petroleum industry sources.

Be it limousine or jalopy, the oil industry has a tremendous stake in the performance of your car. Last year American motorists bought nearly 40 billions of gasoline for which they paid about eight billion dollars plus taxes. Owners of private passenger cars bought five and a half times as much gas as all other users—planes, yachts, buses, trucks, tractors, etc.—put together. Oil companies make more money on automotive gasoline than on any other petroleum product. That explains the rush to be first with a product that will work well in today's increasingly powerful and increasingly complex auto engines.

Court Upholds Action

New York, July 7 (AP) — The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday upheld the disbarment of Harry Sacher for "unprofessional conduct" as a defense attorney in the 1949 trial of 11 Communist leaders convicted of conspiracy. Sacher announced he would appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court. The court's ruling was on an appeal from a ruling by Federal Judge Carroll C. Hincks of New Haven, Conn. Hincks disbarred Sacher and suspended for two years another defense attorney for the Communists, Abraham J. Isserman, from practice in the southern district of New York. This federal district includes Manhattan, the Bronx and 11 counties north of the city. The Circuit Court ruling did not concern itself with Isserman's case.

Won't Leave His Post

New York, July 7 (AP)—Thomas E. Murray, member of the Atomic Energy Commission, says that while he felt complimented at being mentioned as a mayoral possibility, he feels "too keenly" about his AEC post to leave it. Published reports yesterday said Murray might be the Democratic nominee for mayor in the November election.

FOUR-CENT POSTAGE

Letter postage, says Postmaster-General Arthur E. Summerfield, may rise to four cents, to help reduce the prospective Post Office deficit of $594,250,000.

As recently as 1932 letters could be sent sealed for two cents. The advance of that year was thought to be temporary. Earlier in the country's history the three-cent rate on first-class mail prevailed, being finally reduced to two cents. Now it appears that any change in the present figure will be upward, not downward.

In two-cent days an active organization styled the National One-Cent Letter Postage Association bombarded Congress with demands that all letters and cards be sent for one cent. Some felt that this would not be an unmixed blessing since it would bring a large increase in the number of circulars. Now they are sent unsealed at a lower rate than that applying to first-class mail. Since many persons automatically throw away any unsealed matter on the theory that it is only a circular and probably not important, many promoters hesitate to waste their money. If all communications could be sent at the same figure, circulars would cease to be easily distinguishable. Only by ripping the envelope open could the recipient tell what he was getting. This consideration undoubtedly handicapped the One-Cent Letter Postage Association. We may yet be paying a nickel for each letter.

SHIFTING INITIATIVE

Sometimes a change takes place before those directly involved are aware of it. For a long time the initiative in the "cold war" was held by Russia and all our moves were designed to check previous Russian ones. Now the balance seems to be shifting and the Kremlin has been placed on the defensive.

In Germany, Russia has lost a great deal of ground in recent weeks. The initiative in re-uniting that country now rests with the United States for both East and West Germany have demonstrated their lack of faith in the Reds. The European Defense Community which is rapidly taking shape worries Russia. So does the potential effectiveness of economic unity in Western Europe under such programs as the Schuman Plan.

For a long time the Communists had their own way and to many it appeared that they might take over all of Europe as the barbarians once over-ran the Roman Empire. Now that opinion is changing and informed observers are speculating on whether the Russians can retain the lands they already have under their domination. The Free World has a long way to go before it can be completely secure from any Red aggression but we do seem to be moving in the right direction.

In churches, as in so many other things, our nation is second to nobody. We have more than two hundred fifty thousand churches of two hundred fifty denominations. With a total church membership of more than eighty-two million people, and growing, we are demonstrating that we know who comes first.

POLISH REBELS

Revolts and demonstrations against the Communists seem to be spreading like wildfire behind the Iron Curtain. Such demonstrations first took place in Czechoslovakia and East Germany. Now there are reports that the Poles along the Oder-Niesse frontier, in what was once German territory, are rioting and fighting with Soviet troops with stones, sticks and crude weapons. These reports in West Berlin newspapers, say that the rioters burned a theatre where a Soviet motion picture was being shown and seized food from state controlled stores.

When the East German riots were at their peak there were stories of Polish tank troops who saluted the demonstrators as comrades and refused to fire on them. The reports of the rioting Poles say that the mobs cried out for a free Poland and shouted "Ivan go home."

The shouts for Ivan to go home grow louder and they are being repeated in every language of the countries he occupies. If he were wise he would heed those angry shouts.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE OSS

The Office of Strategic Services was the most secretive arm of government during World War II. Its head was General William J. Donovan, better known as "Wild Bill," a lawyer with an excellent reputation. One of his chief associates was Allen Dulles, brother of John Foster Dulles, an able lawyer and a man of outstanding knowledge of European affairs. Donovan and Dulles are Republicans. Dulles is now the head of the Central Intelligence Agency, the successor to the OSS.

As testimony unfolds before Congressional committees, a number of witnesses who now take refuge in the Fifth Amendment on questions of subversion or espionage were, in World War II, connected with the OSS. The question arises how such persons were permitted to join the OSS. Were they double spies? Were they using this connection to spy on this country?

The matter is dead now so far as legal action is concerned, except perhaps on the charge of perjury. Yet, it is important for the United States to know precisely what happened in World War II, so that it may not happen again. The greatest advantage of the Congressional investigations is that Congress may have the background to legislate against a continuation of errors.

Carl Aldo Marzani served in the OSS. He was recently before the Jenner Committee and was asked about his OSS experience. This is the colloquy:

"Mr. Morris. Who was your superior in (the OSS)?

"Mr. Marzani. General Donovan.

"Mr. Morris. Immediate superior?

"Mr. Marzani. I claim the privilege, sir."

This is a puzzler. Why would it incriminate Marzani or anybody else to say who was his immediate superior in the OSS or any government job? After all, that must be a matter of record although OSS records are not public. The Fifth Amendment protects Marzani from testifying against himself in a matter involving a statutory crime. This, in a manner, reflects on his superior, for to testify to this fact could only incriminate Marzani if that immediate superior were himself a criminal with whom Marzani conspired against the United States.

Again, here is a puzzler.

"Mr. Morris. After you were drafted in the Army did you apply for assignment back to OSS?

"Mr. Marzani. I decline to answer that on the basis of the Fifth Amendment and claim the privilege.

"Mr. Morris. Even whether or not you were assigned back, or you applied for assignment?

"Mr. Marzani. That is correct.

"Mr. Morris. Who helped you in being reassigned to the OSS?

"Mr. Marzani. I claim the privilege."

The answer can only mean that something criminal took place. Otherwise, what is wrong with being asked to be assigned to OSS and for someone in that organization or in the Army to have helped Marzani? The OSS was an honorable and dangerous assignment. Why do answers concerning it incriminate a person? What is the crime?

Of himself, Marzani says:

". . . I was one of the men responsible for picking the targets for the raid on Tokyo, the Doolittle raid. That came from the Air Force through the Joint Chiefs. It was a regular staff setup. . . ."

Senator Johnson, referring to the importance of Marzani's position, asked:

"Do you mean to come before this committee and state you held this responsible position and at the same time you will not say whether or not you were a member of the Communist Party at that time?"

Marzani continued to claim the privilege. His reason was: ". . . I have been to jail on a frame-up charge, two and a half years. I spent two and a half years on an indictment which was unconstitutional, and in my opinion the Supreme Court of the United States decided four to four it was unconstitutional, and I went to jail for two and a half years. So I must be the only judge to the best of my knowledge and ability as to whether I could be put into jail again on an indictment which is false and unconstitutional."

Actually Marzani had been jailed on the grounds of perjury in a case involving membership in the Communist Party. He was also associated with "Amerasia." He is now employed by the United Electrical Workers Union, which was evicted from the C.I.O. for being a Communist union.

The question is, how did Marzani get into the OSS?

DIAGNOSIS IN BREAST CANCER

Cancer of the breast is becoming more common, but cancer research workers state that this is because the life span has been so greatly lengthened that more women live to the cancer age than formerly.

While breast cancer can be reached readily by the usual methods—X-rays, radium, and surgery—nevertheless neglected breast growths can so invade the glands in the neighborhood that early recognition of breast cancer is most important if health is to be preserved and life saved.

I have written before of the three women reported by a surgeon who had believed they had breast cancer but refused to inform their families as any of the above methods of treatment would have interfered with the plans of the family—a world's tour among others. After returning home and consulting the surgeon it was found that the lumps in the breast were simply enlarged milk glands, completely devoid of danger.

More recently I recorded the advice of an outstanding cancer specialist who suggested that women of the cancer age (35 to 65) should feel their breasts from time to time to see if any lump is present and if so, whether or not it was increasing in size.

In "American Surgeon" Atlanta, Ga., Dr. H. S. Storrs, reports a study of 203 breasts undergoing surgical operation between 1933 and 1951. Of 79 cases diagnosed as cancer before operation, only 55 (about 70 per cent) proved to be cancer. Nineteen were some form of cyst. If the later cases of cancer were not included, the number of cases wrongly diagnosed would be much greater.

In order that physicians and surgeons could be more sure of their diagnosis in breast cancer, Dr. Storrs suggests that biopsy (removal of a portion of the breast by a special type of punch needle) and examining it under the microscope.

To diagnose the early cases and thereby cure more cases of cancer, a portion of all tumors (lumps) of the breast should be removed and examined microscopically. The advantages of an excision biopsy with electro-surgery are obvious.

As long as surgical removal of the breast remains the method of choice in breast cancer, biopsy removal should be used routinely in patients with solitary nodules (lumps), discharging nipples, and other breast conditions (in one breast) that might be cancer.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington—(NEA)—The Eisenhower administration to date has appointed ambassadors and ministers to only 31 of the 73 diplomatic posts which the U.S. State Department maintains in foreign countries.

Sixteen of these appointments went to career diplomats from the State Department's Foreign Service Officers. The other 15 were political appointments.

All ambassadors and ministers customarily submit their resignations when a new President is elected. But the fate of 42 of them, or the designation of their successors is still under advisement by the new administration.

For five months of effort, the appointment of only 31 new top diplomats may seem pretty slow going. One reason is administrative delay in recruiting by the State Department and White House. The second reason is that under President Eisenhower's new loyalty-security program, every new appointee must be investigated, carefully evaluated and cleared.

A full-scale FBI security check takes a minimum of about three weeks for anyone who has led any kind of an active life. For anyone who has served overseas the investigation may take two months.

This great time drag has raised the question in many minds as to whether all this prying into people's private lives is a good thing or bad.

Real Checking

One angle on the answer may be obtained from the fact that in the five months from Jan. 20 to June 20, the State Department fired and refused to hire 361 people as a result of security investigations. This is roughly 1 per cent of State Department payroll.

Of 211 aplications refused employment by the State Department, 82 were Americans and 129 foreigners.

Of the 150 State Department employes whose services were terminated by discharge or resignation, 89 were Americans and 61 foreigners.

There were in addition on July 1 at least 209 cases pending in which there appeared to be sufficient substance for future termination of employment on security grounds.

"Evaluating a personal security check," says the new State Department Security Administrator, R. W. Scott McLeod, "does not involve evidence nor proof.

"It is an effort to appraise personnel," he continues. "The judgment reached is designed to protect the government from unreliable acts by the people it employs. These future acts are not based on present proof.

"Each case must therefore be considered separately," Mr. McLeod declares. "There is no hard and fast rule of procedure."

Horton Case

The case of Mrs. Mildred McAfee Horton has been cited as the prize example of State Department bungling in the clearance of appointees to important diplomatic jobs. Mrs. Horton was proposed on March 11 as U. S. representative to the United Nations Economic and Social Council, convening in New York May 4.

That gave seven weeks in which to get her confirmed by the Senate. The FBI began its security check on March 13. It reported on April 15. Completing an investigation and summarizing it in a little over four weeks was considered a fast job.

The State Department's Evaluation Unit got the report on April 20, and submitted its own recommendations four days later. The office of the Secretary of State got the final papers on April 27.

But as Mrs. Horton was supposed to go to work only a week later, that did not allow sufficient time to get the nomination through the White House and acted on by the Senate. So the appointment was dropped.

Up to the time the Horton case arose, Security Administrator Scott McLeod was not advised what job any nominee was being cleared for, nor whether there was any rush about it, when a name was given him for investigation. This lax procedure has now been corrected.

This is the Horton story as it is generally known. The inside story is considerably different and a splendid example of what goes on in a security check for a top official.

McLeod has operated thus far on the idea that a security clearance is a relative thing. The first consideration was to get the State Department's job done with maximum security within reasonable risks.

Mrs. Horton Was Active

In the case of Mrs. Horton the record quickly showed that she was president of Wellesley College, a prominent Congregational church leader. During the war she was commandant of the Waves. She was an able, vigorous and intelligent woman.

But Mrs. Horton had also been a maker of many speeches and a joiner. On the list of organizations to which she had belonged at one time or another were several which were on the attorney general's list of subversive organizations.

Among them was the American Committee for Protection of the Foreign Born. Mrs. Horton had signed a letter sent to the American Federation of Women's Clubs on behalf of this organization.

In November, 1939, Mrs. Horton had opposed the registration of aliens in the United States.

The year before she had sent an expression of good will to the American Students' Union. This organization was on the House un-American Activities Committee list of front organizations.

In 1938 Mrs. Horton was also a sponsor of the North American Spanish Aid Committee, which is on the attorney general's list.

In 1946 she was a sponsor for the American Preparatory Committee of the World Student's Conference, held in Prague. This meeting led to the organization of the International Union of Students, a Communist organization.

With this record, it was pointed out in the office of Undersecretary of State Donald B. Lourie, that if Mrs. Horton were applying for a job as a stenographer in the government, she could not be hired.

President Eisenhower's new security order, issued just at the time Mrs. Horton's case was being considered, would not allow it.

Trouble Begins

Inquires were then made as to who in Washington had sponsored Mrs. Horton for this UN appointment. One of them turned out to be Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare in the Eisenhower cabinet. Mrs. Hobby had been commander of the WAC when Mrs. Horton commanded the WAVES.

Would Mrs. Hobby give assurances of no security risk in this case? This wasn't an appointment in Mrs. Hobby's department. The sum and substance was that she wouldn't.

The question was put to Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., head of the U. S. delegation at UN. Would he accept responsibility? Ambassador Lodge had troubles enough of his own with other cases.

So it was decided in high places just to let the thing slide.

Here was one of the most noted of American wartime women patriots, apparently blackballed as a security risk.

The monastery of Liget in Chamille, France, was founded by Henry II of England in 1178 by way of atoning for the murder of Archbishop Thomas a Becket. The royal charter reads that the building must be left standing for 1000 years. At the end of this time the king hoped that the crime would be atoned for and completely forgiven. The building still has 325 years to go.

Oleo Identification

Des Moines, Ia. (AP)—Under a new law, in Iowa, colored oleomargarine may be sold legally for the first time. But each quarter-pound of the spread must have imprinted on it the word, "oleo." Proponents of yellow oleo's sale accepted it in order to obtain passage of the legalizing measure.

Matter of Fired State Department Employe for Writing Pamphlet Is Disclosed

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 7—What's this—what's this—a State Department employee in the full exercise of the privilege of freedom to write happens to pen a realistic phamphlet on the subject of the Taft-Hartley act for the use of foreign journalists visiting America and, immediately upon receiving a protest from the CIO, the secretary of state suspends the employee! The brochure itself is ordered withdrawn—or rather "burned" as the Washington vocabulary now describes all acts of suppression of the printed word.

But unfortunately there is no American pamphleteer association to cry out against this pamphlet-burning episode. Nor is there any senator to make impassioned speeches warning his countrymen about the fear that will be engendered by this occurrence and how "Hitlerism" with its book-burning phobia has now beset our fair land.

There's nobody to cite the terrible dangers of "CIO-ism" as interfering with the liberties of the Eisenhower administration to hire and fire its own employees or to issue what pamphlets it pleases on current topics. For sad to relate, when Jacob Potofsky, chairman of the CIO interrational committee, can write to the secretary of state demanding suppression of a pamphlet which the CIO labor leaders don't like, and the secretary of state a few days later promptly takes disciplinary action against the employee and kills the pamphlet, the days of freedom are numbered—at least that familiar refrain can be taken up by a different set of critics now.

The author of the pamphlet apparently couldn't endure the agony of suspension—being pilloried before the public for having engaged in acts of disloyalty against the political record of the Truman administration. So rather than endure the frustration to one's literary talents in an atmosphere of censorship, the ill-fated employee now has resigned—and there will be no more brochures on the Taft-Hartley act. As usual with such cases, when the employee resigns, the inquiry stops.

But there has arisen a champion from the intellectual precincts of New York city where many champions of free speech have emerged lately to protest loudly against loss of constitutional rights of any kind. T. R. Isserman, the famous labor relations lawyer, member of a prominent New York law firm, and Gerard Reilly, former member of the National Labor Relations Board, have joined together to defend the contents of the pamphlet and to point out that it didn't err when it blamed President Truman for failing to invoke the provisions of the Taft-Hartley act in the steel strike, which it now appears, cost the federal treasury so much revenue that the deficit reported last week was considerably larger than anticipated on that account.

Mr. Isserman says, in a long letter to Secretary of State Dulles, giving chapter and verse in defense of the pamphlet, that on the basis of his considerable experience with the Taft-Hartley law and the debates thereon, he believes the "burned" pamphlet was "far more factual and accurate than Mr. Potofsky's arrogant letter to you."

What is America coming to when a CIO leader can crack the whip and intimidate the secretary of state—or is it unimportant what happens to pamphlets that do not conform to the viewpoint of labor leaders? This cannot but remind many persons of the refrain echoed of late in "liberal" circles that there is an effort to make people "conform" to a certain view, and that the public is not being permitted to learn both sides of an issue. This brings to mind a noted professor of history at Columbia who boasts of his liberalism but who recently wrote a newspaper applauding it for suppressing something that happened to give the other side of a current controversial problem disliked by the "liberals" in question. Have such "liberals" suddenly become reactionaries who disregard our sacred freedoms?

How easy it is to turn the oft-heard argument around. "Conformity of view" inside the government is a "high price to pay" for the privilege of appeasing the CIO or any other labor organization. Also "CIO-ism which intimidated and virtually controlled the last administration has now shown its teeth as against the secretary of state of the Eisenhower administration.

Why does fear stalk the State Department and make our public officials so timid? Maybe soon there's to be a speech from a British Conservative leader asking whether Walter Reuther is more powerful than the secretary of state, John Foster Dulles.

These are strange times and the climate in Washington is hotter now because of these peculiar goings on in the pamphlet-burning areas of the State Department.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Washington, July 6—Developments in the New York mayoralty illustrate the political degeneration of the United States.

The Socialistic parasite known as the Liberal party has nominated Rudolph Halley, the incumbent president of the city council. Halley occurred overnight like a fungus on a stump, in connection with the Kefauver circus. He is obstreperous and a showman and these qualities have created the publicity which suffices as a substitute for legitimite qualifications. The Liberal party was formerly a part of the now decadent Labor party of La Guardia and Marcantonio. This was, and remains, a Communist front. The "Liberal" vote is uncertain but small. It was licked in 1950 when it backed Judge Ferdinand Pecora against Mayor Impellitteri, who ran as an independent against Tammany. The "Liberals" joined Tammany in that one, having no principles.

Dubinsky and Alex Rose, presidents of the Garment Workers' and the hat-cap unions, respectively, are "vice-chairmen" of the Liberal party. They "nominated" Halley at a "convention" in a hotel. About the same time, Harry Truman conferred with Dubinsky and Rose in the Waldorf Tower, the residence of Herbert Hoover, who is, in a manner of speaking, the last of the Republicans. It is also the political lair of Arthur J. Goldsmith, who covertly collects money from eastern rich men and sluices it into states of small population to swing senatorial elections so that these eastern rich men may have more senators voting their way than the constitution intended they should.

One of Goldsmith's letterhead political societies sent money into Tennessee to defeat Carroll Reece, the Republican national chairman, in a contest with Kefauver. Nevertheless Ike, elected on the Republican ticket, signed a mysterious "testimonial" for Goldsmith and he recently entertained, at one of his stag dinners in the White House, Lessing Rosenwald, who with his wife, gave $6,000 to Goldsmith's society the year it sent the money to lick Reece.

Eisenhower seems sheepish about his certificate of good citizenship for Goldsmith and about his hospitality to Rosenwald. That is to say, his secretariat made a great mystery of the "testimonial," refusing to tell a consistent, truthful story, and

FOUR-CENT POSTAGE

Letter postage, says Postmaster-General Arthur E. Summerfield, may rise to four cents, to help reduce the prospective Post Office deficit of $594,250,000.

As recently as 1932 letters could be sent sealed for two cents. The advance of that year was thought to be temporary. Earlier in the country's history the three-cent rate on first-class mail prevailed, being finally reduced to two cents. Now it appears that any change in the present figure will be upward, not downward.

In two-cent days an active organization styled the National One-Cent Letter Postage Association bombarded Congress with demands that all letters and cards be sent for one cent. Some felt that this would not be an unmixed blessing since it would bring a large increase in the number of circulars. Now they are sent unsealed at a lower rate than that applying to first-class mail. Since many persons automatically throw away any unsealed matter on the theory that it is only a circular and probably not important, many promoters hesitate to waste their money. If all communications could be sent at the same figure, circulars would cease to be easily distinguishable. Only by ripping the envelope open could the recipient tell what he was getting. This consideration undoubtedly handicapped the One-Cent Letter Postage Association. We may yet be paying a nickel for each letter.

SHIFTING INITIATIVE

Sometimes a change takes place before those directly involved are aware of it. For a long time the initiative in the "cold war" was held by Russia and all our moves were designed to check previous Russian ones. Now the balance seems to be shifting and the Kremlin has been placed on the defensive.

In Germany, Russia has lost a great deal of ground in recent weeks. The initiative in re-uniting that country now rests with the United States for both East and West Germany have demonstrated their lack of faith in the Reds. The European Defense Community which is rapidly taking shape worries Russia. So does the potential effectiveness of economic unity in Western Europe under such programs as the Schuman Plan.

For a long time the Communists had their own way and to many it appeared that they might take over all of Europe as the barbarians once over-ran the Roman Empire. Now that opinion is changing and informed observers are speculating on whether the Russians can retain the lands they already have under their domination. The Free World has a long way to go before it can be completely secure from any Red aggression but we do seem to be moving in the right direction.

In churches, as in so many other things, our nation is second to nobody. We have more than two hundred fifty thousand churches of two hundred fifty denominations. With a total church membership of more than eighty-two million people, and growing, we are demonstrating that we know who comes first.

POLISH REBELS

Revolts and demonstrations against the Communists seem to be spreading like wildfire behind the Iron Curtain. Such demonstrations first took place in Czechoslovakia and East Germany. Now there are reports that the Poles along the Oder-Niesse frontier, in what was once German territory, are rioting and fighting with Soviet troops with stones, sticks and crude weapons. These reports in West Berlin newspapers, say that the rioters burned a theatre where a Soviet motion picture was being shown and seized food from state controlled stores.

When the East German riots were at their peak there were stories of Polish tank troops who saluted the demonstrators as comrades and refused to fire on them. The reports of the rioting Poles say that the mobs cried out for a free Poland and shouted "Ivan go home."

The shouts for Ivan to go home grow louder and they are being repeated in every language of the countries he occupies. If he were wise he would heed those angry shouts.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE OSS

The Office of Strategic Services was the most secretive arm of government during World War II. Its head was General William J. Donovan, better known as "Wild Bill," a lawyer with an excellent reputation. One of his chief associates was Allen Dulles, brother of John Foster Dulles, an able lawyer and a man of outstanding knowledge of European affairs. Donovan and Dulles are Republicans. Dulles is now the head of the Central Intelligence Agency, the successor to the OSS.

As testimony unfolds before Congressional committees, a number of witnesses who now take refuge in the Fifth Amendment on questions of subversion or espionage were, in World War II, connected with the OSS. The question arises how such persons were permitted to join the OSS. Were they double spies? Were they using this connection to spy on this country?

The matter is dead now so far as legal action is concerned, except perhaps on the charge of perjury. Yet, it is important for the United States to know precisely what happened in World War II, so that it may not happen again. The greatest advantage of the Congressional investigations is that Congress may have the background to legislate against a continuation of errors.

Carl Aldo Marzani served in the OSS. He was recently before the Jenner Committee and was asked about his OSS experience. This is the colloquy:

"Mr. Morris. Who was your superior in (the OSS)?

"Mr. Marzani. General Donovan.

"Mr. Morris. Immediate superior?

"Mr. Marzani. I claim the privilege, sir."

This is a puzzler. Why would it incriminate Marzani or anybody else to say who was his immediate superior in the OSS or any government job? After all, that must be a matter of record although OSS records are not public. The Fifth Amendment protects Marzani from testifying against himself in a matter involving a statutory crime. This, in a manner, reflects on his superior, for to testify to this fact could only incriminate Marzani if that immediate superior were himself a criminal with whom Marzani conspired against the United States.

Again, here is a puzzler.

"Mr. Morris. After you were drafted in the Army did you apply for assignment back to OSS?

"Mr. Marzani. I decline to answer that on the basis of the Fifth Amendment and claim the privilege.

"Mr. Morris. Even whether or not you were assigned back or you applied for assignment?

"Mr. Marzani. That is correct.

"Mr. Morris. Who helped you in being reassigned to the OSS?

"Mr. Marzani. I claim the privilege."

The answer can only mean that something criminal took place. Otherwise, what is wrong with being asked to be assigned to OSS and for someone in that organization or in the Army to have helped Marzani? The OSS was an honorable and dangerous assignment. Why do answers concerning it incriminate a person? What is the crime?

Of himself, Marzani says:

". . . I was one of the men responsible for picking the targets for the raid on Tokyo, the Doolittle raid. That came from the Air Force through the Joint Chiefs. It was a regular staff setup. . . ."

Senator Johnson, referring to the importance of Marzani's position, asked:

"Do you mean to come before this committee and state you held this responsible position and at the same time you will not say whether or not you were a member of the Communist Party at that time?"

Marzani continued to claim the privilege. His reason was: ". . . I have been to jail on a frame-up charge, two and a half years. I spent two and a half years on an indictment which was unconstitutional, and in my opinion the Supreme Court of the United States decided four to four it was unconstitutional, and I went to jail for two and a half years. So I must be the only judge to the best of my knowledge and ability as to whether I could be put into jail again on an indictment which is false and unconstitutional."

Actually Marzani had been jailed on the grounds of perjury in a case involving membership in the Communist Party. He was also associated with "Amerasia." He is now employed by the United Electrical Workers Union, which was evicted from the C.I.O. for being a Communist union.

The question is, how did Marzani get into the OSS?

DIAGNOSIS IN BREAST CANCER

Cancer of the breast is becoming more common, but cancer research workers state that this is because the life span has been so greatly lengthened that more women live to the cancer age than formerly.

While breast cancer can be reached readily by the usual methods—X-rays, radium, and surgery—nevertheless neglected breast growths can so invade the glands in the neighborhood that early recognition of breast cancer is most important if health is to be preserved and life saved.

I have written before of the three women reported by a surgeon who had believed they had breast cancer but refused to inform their families as any of the above methods of treatment would have interfered with the plans of the family—a world's tour among others. After returning home and consulting the surgeon it was found that the lumps in the breast were simply enlarged milk glands, completely devoid of danger.

More recently I recorded the advice of an outstanding cancer specialist who suggested that women of the cancer age (35 to 65) should feel their breasts from time to time to see if any lump is present and if so, whether or not it was increasing in size.

In "American Surgeon" Atlanta, Ga., Dr. H. S. Storrs, reports a study of 203 breasts undergoing surgical operation between 1933 and 1951. Of 79 cases diagnosed as cancer before operation, only 55 (about 70 per cent) proved to be cancer. Nineteen were some form of cyst. If the later cases of cancer were not included, the number of cases wrongly diagnosed would be much greater.

In order that physicians and surgeons could be more sure of their diagnosis in breast cancer, Dr. Storrs suggests that biopsy (removal of a portion of the breast by a special type of punch needle) and examining it under the microscope.

To diagnose the early cases and thereby cure more cases of cancer, a portion of all tumors (lumps) of the breast should be removed and examined microscopically. The advantages of an excision biopsy with electro-surgery are obvious.

As long as surgical removal of the breast remains the method of choice in breast cancer, biopsy removal should be used routinely in patients with solitary nodules (lumps), discharging nipples, and other breast conditions (in one breast) that might be cancer.

The second reason is that under President Eisenhower's new loyalty-security program, every new appointee must be investigated, carefully evaluated and cleared.

A full-scale FBI security check takes a minimum of about three weeks for anyone who has led any kind of an active life. For anyone who has served overseas the investigation may take two months.

This great time drag has raised the question in many minds as to whether all this prying into people's private lives is a good thing or bad.

Real Checking

One angle on the answer may be obtained from the fact that in the five months from Jan. 20 to June 20, the State Department fired and refused to hire 361 people as a result of security investigations. This is roughly 1 per cent of State Department payroll.

Of 211 aplications refused employment by the State Department, 82 were Americans and 129 foreigners.

Of the 150 State Department employes whose services were terminated by discharge or resignation, 89 were Americans and 61 foreigners.

There were in addition on July 1 at least 209 cases pending in which there appeared to be sufficient substance for future termination of employment on security grounds.

"Evaluating a personal security check," says the new State Department Security Administrator, R. W. Scott McLeod, "does not involve evidence nor proof.

"It is an effort to appraise personnel," he continues. "The judgment reached is designed to protect the government from unreliable acts by the people it employs. These future acts are not based on present proof.

"Each case must therefore be considered separately," Mr. McLeod declares. "There is no hard and fast rule of procedure."

Horton Case

The case of Mrs. Mildred McAfee Horton has been cited as the prize example of State Department bungling in the clearance of appointees to important diplomatic jobs. Mrs. Horton was proposed on March 11 as U. S. representative to the United Nations Economic and Social Council, convening in New York May 4.

That gave seven weeks in which to get her confirmed by the Senate. The FBI began its security check on March 13. It reported on April 15. Completing an investigation and summarizing it in a little over four weeks was considered a fast job.

The State Department's Evaluation Unit got the report on April 20, and submitted its own recommendations four days later. The office of the Secretary of State got the final papers on April 27.

But as Mrs. Horton was supposed to go to work only a week later, that did not allow sufficient time to get the nomination through the White House and acted on by the Senate. So the appointment was dropped.

Up to the time the Horton case arose, Security Administrator Scott McLeod was not advised what job any nominee was being cleared for, nor whether there was any rush about it, when a name was given him for investigation. This lax procedure has now been corrected.

This is the Horton story as it is generally known. The inside story is considerably different and a splendid example of what goes on in a security check for a top official.

McLeod has operated thus far on the idea that a security clearance is a relative thing. The first consideration was to get the State Department's job done with maximum security within reasonable risks.

Mrs. Horton Was Active

In the case of Mrs. Horton the record quickly showed that she was president of Wellesley College, a prominent Congregational church leader. During the war she was commandant of the Waves. She was an able, vigorous and intelligent woman.

But Mrs. Horton had also been a maker of many speeches and a joiner. On the list of organizations to which she had belonged at one time or another were several which were on the attorney general's list of subversive organizations.

Among them was the American Committee for Protection of the Foreign Born. Mrs. Horton had signed a letter sent to the American Federation of Women's Clubs on behalf of this organization.

In November, 1939, Mrs. Horton had opposed the registration of aliens in the United States.

The year before she had sent an expression of good will to the American Students' Union. This organization was on the House un-American Activities Committee list of front organizations.

In 1938 Mrs. Horton was also a sponsor of the North American Spanish Aid Committee, which is on the attorney general's list.

In 1946 she was a sponsor for the American Preparatory Committee of the World Student's Conference, held in Prague. This meeting led to the organization of the International Union of Students, a Communist organization.

With this record, it was pointed out in the office of Undersecretary of State Donald B. Lourie, that if Mrs. Horton were applying for a job as a stenographer in the government, she could not be hired.

President Eisenhower's new security order, issued just at the time Mrs. Horton's case was being considered, would not allow it.

Trouble Begins

Inquires were then made as to who in Washington had sponsored Mrs. Horton for this UN appointment. One of them turned out to be Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare in the Eisenhower cabinet. Mrs. Hobby had been commander of the WAC when Mrs. Horton commanded the WAVES.

Would Mrs. Hobby give assurances of no security risk in this case? This wasn't an appointment in Mrs. Hobby's department. The sum and substance was that she wouldn't.

The question was put to Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., head of the U. S. delegation at UN. Would he accept responsibility? Ambassador Lodge had troubles enough of his own with other cases.

So it was decided in high places just to let the thing slide.

Here was one of the most noted of American wartime women patriots, apparently blackballed as a security risk.

Monastery Built to Atone for a Murder.

The monastery of Liget in Chamille, France, was founded by Henry II of England in 1178 by way of atoning for the murder of Archbishop Thomas a Becket. The royal charter reads that the building must be left standing for 1000 years. At the end of this time the king hoped that the crime would be atoned for and completely forgiven. The building still has 325 years to go.

Oleo Identification

Des Moines, Ia. (AP)—Under a new law, in Iowa, colored oleomargarine may be sold legally for the first time. But each quarter-pound of the spread must have imprinted on it the word, "oleo." The legislature passed the act after a strenuous contest and the imprint identification plan was a compromise. Proponents of yellow oleo's sale accepted it in order to obtain passage of the legalizing measure.

Matter of Fired State Department Employe for Writing Pamphlet Is Disclosed

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 7—What's this—what's this—a State Department employee in the full exercise of the privilege of freedom to write happens to pen a realistic phamphlet on the subject of the Taft-Hartley act for the use of foreign journalists visiting America and, immediately upon receiving a protest from the CIO, the secretary of state suspends the employee! The brochure itself is ordered withdrawn—or rather "burned" as the Washington vocabulary now describes all acts of suppression of the printed word.

But unfortunately there is no American pamphleteer association to cry out against this pamphlet-burning episode. Nor is there any senator to make impassioned speeches warning his countrymen about the fear that will be engendered by this occurrence and how "Hitlerism" with its book-burning phobia has now beset our fair land.

There's nobody to cite the terrible dangers of "CIO-ism" as interfering with the liberties of the Eisenhower administration to hire and fire its own employees or to issue what pamphlets it pleases on current topics. For sad to relate, when Jacob Potofsky, chairman of the CIO interational committee, can write to the secretary of state demanding suppression of a pamphlet which the CIO labor leaders don't like, and the secretary of state a few days later promptly takes disciplinary action against the employee and kills the pamphlet, the days of freedom are numbered—at least that familiar refrain can be taken up by a different set of critics now.

The author of the pamphlet apparently couldn't endure the agony of suspension—being pilloried before the public for having engaged in acts of disloyalty against the political record of the Truman administration. So rather than endure the frustration to one's literary talents in an atmosphere of censorship, the ill-fated employee now has resigned—and there will be no more brochures on the Taft-Hartley act. As usual with such cases, when the employee resigns, the inquiry stops.

But there has arisen a champion from the intellectual precincts of New York city where many champions of free speech have emerged lately to protest loudly against loss of constitutional rights of any kind. T. R. Isserman, the famous labor relations lawyer, member of a prominent New York law firm, and Gerard Reilly, former member of the National Labor Relations Board, have joined together to defend the contents of the pamphlet and to point out that it didn't err when it blamed President Truman for failing to invoke the provisions of the Taft-Hartley act in the steel strike, which it now appears, cost the federal treasury so much revenue that the deficit reported last week was considerably larger than anticipated on that account.

Mr. Isserman says, in a long letter to Secretary of State Dulles, giving chapter and verse in defense of the pamphlet, that on the basis of his considerable experience with the Taft-Hartley law and the debates thereon, he believes the "burned" pamphlet was "far more factual and accurate than Mr. Potofsky's arrogant letter to you."

What is America coming to when a CIO leader can crack the whip and intimidate the secretary of state—or is it unimportant what happens to pamphlets that do not conform to the viewpoint of labor leaders? This cannot but remind many persons of the refrain echoed of late in "liberal" circles that there is an effort to make people "conform" to a certain view, and that the public is not being permitted to learn both sides of an issue. This brings to mind a noted professor of history at Columbia who boasts of his liberalism but who recently wrote a newspaper applauding it for suppressing something that happened to give the other side of a current controversial problem disliked by the "liberals" in question. Have such "liberals" suddenly become reactionaries who disregard our sacred freedoms?

How easy it is to turn the oft-heard argument around. "Conformity of view" inside the government is a "high price to pay" for the privilege of appeasing the CIO or any other labor organization. Also "CIO-ism which intimidated and virtually controlled the last administration has now shown its teeth as against the secretary of state of the Eisenhower administration.

Why does fear stalk the State Department and make our public officials so timid? Maybe soon there's to be a speech from a British Conservative leader asking whether Walter Reuther is more powerful than the secretary of state, John Foster Dulles.

These are strange times and the climate in Washington is hotter now because of these peculiar goings on in the pamphlet-burning areas of the State Department.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Washington, July 6—Developments in the New York mayoralty illustrate the political degeneration of the United States.

The Socialistic parasite known as the Liberal party has nominated Rudolph Halley, the incumbent president of the city council. Halley occurred overnight like a fungus on a stump, in connection with the Kefauver circus. He is obstreperous and a showman and these qualities have created the publicity which suffices as a substitute for legitimite qualifications. The Liberal party was formerly a part of the now decadent Labor party of La Guardia and Marcantonio. This was, and remains, a Communist front. The "Liberal" vote is uncertain but small. It was licked in 1950 when it backed Judge Ferdinand Pecora against Mayor Impellitteri, who ran as an independent against Tammany. The "Liberals" joined Tammany in that one, having no principles.

Dubinsky and Alex Rose, presidents of the Garment Workers' and the hat-cap unions, respectively, are "vice-chairmen" of the Liberal party. They "nominated" Halley at a "convention" in a hotel. About the same time, Harry Truman conferred with Dubinsky and Rose in the Waldorf Tower, the residence of Herbert Hoover, who is, in a manner of speaking, the last of the Republicans. It is also the political lair of Arthur J. Goldsmith, who covertly collects money from eastern rich men and sluices it into states of small population to swing senatorial elections so that these eastern rich men may have more senators voting their way than the constitution intended they should.

One of Goldsmith's letterhead political societies sent money into Tennessee to defeat Carroll Reece, the Republican national chairman, in a contest with Kefauver. Nevertheless Ike, elected on the Republican ticket, signed a mysterious "testimonial" for Goldsmith and he recently entertained, at one of his stag dinners in the White House, Lessing Rosenwald, who with his wife, gave $6,000 to Goldsmith's society the year it sent the money to lick Reece.

Eisenhower seems sheepish about his certificate of good citizenship for Goldsmith and about his hospitality to Rosenwald. That is to say, his secretariat made a great mystery of the "testimonial," refusing to tell a consistent, truthful story, and

As Pegler Sees It

Jim Hagerty, the White House press secretary, told the press corps it was nobody's business whom Ike had to dinner.

Dubinsky, who now plans with Truman for 1954, has been one of Ike's house-pets for years. When Ike was a commander of the allied powers in the dawn of his and Truman's awakening from their hophead's fantasy of Russian amity, he found Dubinsky horning into domestic European politics both in person, on the spot, with $50,000 from the union's treasury, and from a distance, through the two notorious anti-Kremlin Marxian Communists, Jay Lovestone and Irving Brown. Meanwhile, the central intelligence agency has poured millions of our taxes into political projects in Europe managed by these Communist agents of Dubinsky.

Carmel Offie, late secretary to William C. Bullitt, an early strident advocate of recognition of Soviet Russia but a tardy convert to reality, has said. the amount which the CIA put at the disposal of Dubinsky's union and the AF of L for illicit political activity in Europe was a little less than $3,000,000. Allen Dulles, the chief of the CIA, holds that the American people have no right to know anything about its activities or disbursements.

Offie once was pinched in Lafayette Park, across from the White House, on a charge of disorderly conduct. The particulars alleged that he had made indecent proposals to a cop. He forfeited his $25 security. Both he and Bullitt indicated that Bullitt would be glad to give further information bearing on homosexuality in the state department. But Bullitt disappeared when this invitation was pursued and I have been unable to catch up with him since.

Governor Tom Dewey, an Eisenhower Republican, has toed the Dubinsky line in recent years, in a flirtation for that problematical vote of a political subsidiary of a union with $166 million in its treasury. Nevertheless Dubinsky and Rose turned down a coalition with the Republicans in nominating Halley for mayor. They did this because Dewey favored increases in rent and in subway and bus fares. The alternative to such increases is further inflation, depreciation of government bonds and eventual economic dissolution. That is the ideal Marxian utimate, but, as John T. Flynn pointed out in his renowned tract "The Road Ahead," the gradual Marxists, or Fabians, do not let the ultimate enter their discussions.

The garment workers' union now has the dress industry in its power. The industry is a captive province of the union. Business men in the industry have worked primarily for and by sufferance of the union, living on the leavings after the union has taken all the traffic will bear.

The leading candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor in New York is Jacob Javits, a congressman. He has declared principles almost wholly consistent with Roosevelt's program.

This disintegration, strikingly like the falling-apart of France, is the direct consequence of a pathetic effort of weak Republicans to accommodate all degrees of anti-Republicans from Eisenhower's Texas Democrats to Dubinsky's bloodthirsty Reds who broke with Stalin but haven't been able to show where they ever broke with communism per se.

The command said the prisoners crawled through holes cut in the fence of the compound and slid past guards in the dark, rainy night. Guards spotted a few of the prisoners, but were afraid to fire for fear of hitting U. S. personnel sleeping in a nearby hut, the command said.

ON THE GLORY ROAD—75,000 STRONG—Above is a dramatic picture of the Cotton Bowl, in Dallas, Tex., packed with 75,000 people who came to hear Billy Graham, world-famous evangelist. It was called the largest single evangelistic audience in church history. The most dramatic moment came when the 34-year-old preacher asked that all stadium lights be extinguished. Each person struck a match, and the stadium was once again alight. Graham then asked the people to pray that the flame of freedom will burn forever throughout the world.

As Pegler Sees It

Jim Hagerty, the White House press secretary, told the press corps it was nobody's business whom Ike had to dinner.

Dubinsky, who now plans with Truman for 1954, has been one of Ike's house-pets for years. When Ike was a commander of the allied powers in the dawn of his and Truman's awakening from their hophead's fantasy of Russian amity, he found Dubinsky horning into domestic European politics both in person, on the spot, with $50,000 from the union's treasury, and from a distance, through the two notorious anti-Kremlin Marxian Communists, Jay Lovestone and Irving Brown. Meanwhile, the central intelligence agency has poured millions of our taxes into political projects in Europe managed by these Communist agents of Dubinsky.

Carmel Offie, late secretary to William C. Bullitt, an early strident advocate of recognition of Soviet Russia but a tardy convert to reality, has said the amount which the CIA put at the disposal of Dubinsky's union and the AF of L for illicit political activity in Europe was a little less than $3,000,000. Allen Dulles, the chief of the CIA, holds that the American people have no right to know anything about its activities or disbursements.

Offie once was pinched in Lafayette Park, across from the White House, on a charge of disorderly conduct. The particulars alleged that he had made indecent proposals to a cop. He forfeited his $25 security. Both he and Bullitt indicated that Bullitt would be glad to give further information bearing on homosexuality in the state department. But Bullitt disappeared when this invitation was pursued and I have been unable to catch up with him since.

Governor Tom Dewey, an Eisenhower Republican, has toed the Dubinsky line in recent years, in a flirtation for that problematical vote of a political subsidiary of a union with $166 million in its treasury. Nevertheless Dubinsky and Rose turned down a coalition with the Republicans in nominating Halley for mayor. They did this because Dewey favored increases in rent and in subway and bus fares. The alternative to such increases is further inflation, depreciation of government bonds and eventual economic dissolution. That is the ideal Marxian utimate, but, as John T. Flynn pointed out in his renowned tract "The Road Ahead," the gradual Marxists, or Fabians, do not let the ultimate enter their discussions.

The garment workers' union now has the dress industry in its power. The industry is a captive province of the union. Business men in the industry have worked primarily for and by sufferance of the union, living on the leavings after the union has taken all the traffic will bear.

The leading candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor in New York is Jacob Javits, a congressman. He has declared principles almost wholly consistent with Roosevelt's program.

This disintegration, strikingly like the falling-apart of France, is the direct consequence of a pathetic effort of weak Republicans to accommodate all degrees of anti-Republicans from Eisenhower's Texas Democrats to Dubinsky's bloodthirsty Reds who broke with Stalin but haven't been able to show where they ever broke with communism per se.

Would Enjoin Miron Picketing

New York, July 7 (Special)—The regional director of the National Labor Board here filed suit in Federal Court Monday asking the court to issue an injunction against an AFL local union to prevent it from picketing the Miron Building Products Company, Inc., of 69 Ferry street, Kingston.

The plaintiff, Charles T. Douds, also asks that the union, Local 445 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America, AFL, be enjoined from inducing contractors in the Kingston-Newburgh area to stop doing business with the company. The union's office is at 1 Washington Place, Newburgh.

The Miron Company had filed a charge of unfair labor practices against the union on July 6 with the NLRB, contending that the union—although never certified as bargaining agent of its employes—had demanded that the company recognize it as agent. After the board investigated the charge, it issued a formal complaint against the union. Since April, says Douds, the union has "induced or encouraged" construction contractors in the area to boycott the firm.

The Kingston firm deals in retail lumber and building supplies.

Coroner Holds Up Verdict on Death In Whitehead Case

A coroner's verdict on the death Monday morning of Frank Whitehead, 20, of Malden, 56 hours after he was critically injured in an automobile accident near this city, has been withheld until he confers with state police on the results of their investigation, Coroner Michael A. Galietta said this morning.

An autopsy has been ordered, Galietta said, but the autopsy report had not been received up to a late hour this morning.

Plunges Through Wall

Troopers reported that Whitehead was a passenger in an automobile that sideswiped a tractor trailer and then plunged through a brick wall along Route 9W two miles north of Kingston early Saturday morning. Whitehead died at Kingston Hospital at 10:45 a. m. Monday.

Walter Olkowski, 21, of Malden, listed by state police as driver of the automobile, was taken to the Kingston Hospital following the crash. Hospital authorities said this morning that he was transferred by ambulance on Monday to a hospital in the metropolitan area.

Hay Takes Fire

A load of hay being trucked by James McAuliffe, of West Hurley, into the yard of Fred J. Myers, of the same place, caught fire at about 9:30 p. m., yesterday, damaging some of the hay, paint on the truck, and its wiring. The blaze started when the truck was across the street from the fire house and the West Hurley volunteers had it under control in a short time. The hay was loose and not in bales. Fire Chief Albert E. Davis indicated the cause of the fire was undetermined, but it was thought that it could have started either from a discarded cigarette or a spark from the truck's exhaust.

Mediation Session Called on Strike Of Newburgh Ferry

Newburgh, July 7 (AP)—A mediation session was called today in an attempt to settle a crewmen's strike on the 210-year-old Newburgh-Beacon Ferry.

Sidney Sheiner, of the Federal Mediation Service, yesterday offered his services and both the company and Local 333, United Marine Division of the International Longshoremen's Association, AFL, accepted.

The closed mediation session was called for 10 a. m., EST, with no indication how long it would last or whether any announcement would be made when it adjourned.

The strike, which began Friday afternoon, broke a 210-year record of uninterrupted service on the ferry, which was chartered by Queen Anne in 1743. The 85 crewmen struck because of a deadlock in negotiations over wages and hours.

Variety of Transport Used

Commuters still used a seaplane, outboard motorboats and automobiles for their trips between Newburgh and Beacon, one mile apart on opposite sides of the Hudson river. Those traveling in cars drove across the Mid-Hudson River Bridge at Poughkeepsie, which made the trip between the two cities a distance of 35 miles.

Union has been demanding reduction in the present 52-hour work week to 40 hours, with no cut in pay, now ranging from $52 to $91 a week.

Eisenhower . . .

ministration's job-screening program to turn up information which Congress later uncovered about Tom Lyon, who had been nominated by the President to be chief of the Bureau of Mines.

The President withdrew the nomination after Lyon testified he was receiving a $5,000 a year pension from the Anaconda Corp. and that he did not like the federal mine safety law.

Eisenhower aides said at the time that the President felt there should have been better liaison work in the case. Lyon was recommended to him by the Interior Department, presumably was cleared by the White House staff, and was sponsored by Sen. Watkins (R.-Utah), who withdrew his support after Lyon testified at the capitol.

Hagerty said yesterday, however, that there was "no connection whatever" between the Lyon episode and the appointment of the liaison men.

Painter Credited With Reaching Top Of Nanga Parbat

New Delhi, India, July 7 (AP)—A man who has earned his living as a painter of church towers was credited today with reaching the top of Nanga Parbat in the Himalayan Mountains.

Nanga Parbat, at 26,660 feet, is the seventh highest mountain in the world by reckoning of the National Geographic Society of Washington. It towers over Kashmir, and has defied six earlier attempts at ascent.

Reports reaching New Delhi say the man to reach the top, member of a 10-man team from Germany and Austria, is Hermann Buhl, 26. He is rated Austria's most daring mountain climber, but after World War II earned his living painting church spires and fixing roofs in his native Tyrol.

Nanga Parbat, the "naked lady" of the Himalayas, is the second peak in that mountain range to be scaled this year. In May a New Zealander and an Indian—Sir Edmund Hillary and Tiger Tenzing—surmounted Mt. Everest, 29,000 feet high.

German authorities say Nanga Parbat has claimed the lives of 31 European climbers and porters—more than any other Himalayan peak. The first attempt on it was in 1895 by a British climber, A. F. Mummery, who died.

Farm Life Plan Chooses Officers

Chester DuMond, Jr., was elected chairman of the recently appointed Ulster County Farm Life Insurance Committee at the committee's organizational meeting June 20.

Edgar M. Clarke, Jr., was elected vice chairman, and Alfred Zimmerman, secretary.

The committee was appointed in connection with the development by State Farm Bureau federations in eight northeastern states of a life insurance company for the purpose of making available to farmers life insurance especially fitted to their needs.

Gives Reasons

In accepting the chairmanship, DuMond said that farmers have a need for life insurance to protect their wives and children from being saddled with heavy indebtedness in case of premature death, for education of their children and to protect their estates from liquidation in order to pay estate taxes.

A series of meetings will be held in the county to explain the proposed insurance program, DuMond stated. Families of Farm Bureau members and other farmers will be able to make reservations at these meetings for charter life insurance policies in the new company.

Leniency Is Shown

the budget of the disgraced police force by 750 million east marks (thirty million dollars) another West Berlin newspaper, Nacht Depesche, reported. It said the money will be diverted to development of light industry and more consumer goods in an announced policy of improving conditions for the mutinous workers.

Spurred by serious food shortages, the Communist East German government held out new promises to disgruntled farmers today to lure them into delivering quotas asked from the new grain harvest.

Quotas were reduced and more credit and farm machinery promised, according to the West Berlin Morgenpost.

Demonstrations Reported

Demonstrations in front of empty food stores were reported in many sections. The harvest, which began last week, is expected to be slim because so many experienced farmers have fled to the west, and those remaining have been hampered by Communist red tape and lack of equipment.

Dr. James B. Conant, U. S. high commissioner in Germany, came to West Berlin today for an on-the-spot study of the situation caused by the Russian martial law barricade dividing the four-power city.

The three western commandants last night made a new demand on the Soviets to lift their armed blockade of the sector border and restore to Berliners "the right to circulate freely throughout their city."

Although it has been 20 days since the June 17 revolt, there was still no indication of when martial law would be lifted in East Berlin. At present, only persons working across the sector barrier and obtaining special passes from the Communists are allowed to cross.

Conant ostensibly came to Berlin to make a speech at Berlin's Technical University tomorrow. But most of his two-day stay will be spent in conferences with American and German officials.

Flemming Defends

reasons, such as poor efficiency in operation, high production costs, attainment of mobilization stock reserves and production rates," he said.

Willow Run was considered a secondary source because the plane was originated, and was being jointly produced, by Fairchild Aircraft Corp., at Hagerstown, Md. Fairchild's unit cost, the senators said, was about one fifth of Kaiser's.

Reporters also questioned Flemming on air force cancellation of multi-million dollar orders for seven monster hydraulic presses, designed to squeeze out wing and fuselage parts with record speed. While these cancellations were pending, they were attributed to the Eisenhower administration's economy program.

Attributed to Re-evaluation

Flemming, however, attributed them to a re-evaluation of the heavy press program in the light of technological developments. Here, also the mobilization base was not involved, he said.

The mobilization policy of the Eisenhower administration, as enunciated by Flemming, calls for the filling of any gaps in the country's machinery, tools, equipment, power and materials supply which would be needed for all-out war: and for the "systematic maintenance" of idle war production equipment when not in use.

The statement calls, at the outset, for a calculation of how much production would be available for military use in the first three years of war, after subtracting from total national output enough to give civilians a "rock bottom" economy.

As the next step, the plan calls for an appraisal of specific industries, to determine whether each is capable of meeting the military program determined upon. This survey would disclose any "gaps" in the industrial base for mobilization.

"Thus the ground will be laid for decisions as to whether to fill in gaps in the national plan, or modify the military plan, or both," the ODM statement said.

Nixon Might Make

Stassen on a recent trip to the Near East. The President apparently believed Nixon could help iron out some rough spots in U. S. relations with Asiatic countries.

As Personal Representative

Nixon would go as Eisenhower's personal representative and as such would be available for talks with President Synman Rhee of South Korea if the occasion arose for such discussions.

Recently Eisenhower told senators he was willing to send any man in the government for such talks with Rhee and it was immediately assumed he had either Dulles or Nixon in mind.

Dulles said later the President was discussing the possibility of talks with Rhee after the signing of a Korean truce and before a peace conference might begin. Rhee currently is reported entirely satisfied to negotiate truce conditions with Walter S. Robertson, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern Affairs.

Nixon's trip originally was brought up for discussion at the White House before the difficulties arose over Rhee's refusal to go along with proposed truce terms.

and probably will remain open too.

Joseph Sommers, president of the Uptown Business Men's Association was in New York today and not available for comment.

It was learned however that Sommers probably will call a special meeting for tomorrow after the stores close for the day to discuss the summer schedule.

Recalled by Navy

DR. FREDERIC HOLCOMB, JR.

Dr. Frederic Holcomb, Jr. has closed his office at 41 Pearl street because of recall to active duty with the Navy Medical Corps. Dr. Holcomb left Saturday for his post at the Naval Hospital in Naples, Italy. Dr. Holcomb was a graduate of the University of Virginia and Albany Medical College. Following an internship at the U. S. Naval Hospital Bainbridge, Md., he served with marine occupation forces in China in 1945 and 1946. He opened his Kingston practice in urology in 1949 after a residency at Albany Hospital.

Council Will . . .

stalled adequate to handle stretcher cases.

Under Welfare Commissioner

Commissioner Murray explained today that operation of the chronic hospital would be under supervision of the county welfare commissioner and would operate similar to the 24-bed infirmary at the County Home in New Paltz. Primarily intended for welfare clients, the hospital might be able to accept several paying patients where the need for such care in shown, he said.

The Board of Supervisors at a meeting June 9 adopted a resolution asking the city to deed the former city home property to the county for $1. The city home is no longer used as such.

Another resolution adopted directed the board's Welfare Committee to secure detailed plans and specifications for renovation and equipping the proposed hospital if the Common Council accepts the transfer bid.

Both Pass Unanimously

Both resolutions were sponsored by Supervisor Kenneth Wilson of the town of Woodstock and both passed unanimously.

At the board's previous meeting, Wilson proposed it consider the use of the building to care for the elderly persons who were chronically ill. He pointed out at that time that some of those persons were housed "seven or eight in a room" at nursing homes.

He also noted that a new state law reduces the county welfare costs in some departments through more state aid and provides 50-50 share of cost by the state for treaatment of chronically ill persons who are receiving public assistance.

Ulster Long Has Led

Ulster county has traditionally been a leading county in medical services. In 1928, the county established a Tuberculosis Hospital in Kingston, and has since constructed a tumor clinic known as one of the finest of its type in the state. It was one of the first counties to establish a health department in combination with the city. Its proponents point out that the establishment of a hospital for the chronically ill would be another step toward better facilities to meet the needs of the county.

Committee Speeds Subversives Check

New York, July 7 (AP)—The House Un-American Activities Committee split into two sections today and held simultaneous closed hearings to speed up its investigation of "subversion in the field of labor."

The two executive hearings were presided over by Rep. Kit Clardy (R-Mich.) and Rep. Gordon H. Scherer (R-Ohio) in the federal building.

Rep. Harold R. Velde (R-Ill.), committee chairman, in a hospital here, was unable to attend the sessions. He issued a statement yesterday in which he said his group would "use every legal weapon at our command to expose * * * un-American activities wherever they exist" in labor.

Clardy said that about seven persons would be questioned at today's closed sessions, and that the committee would return to Washington tonight. He said the committee had many executive sessions scheduled, and that a summary of the committee's work would be issued when the committee feels the time is appropriate.

Protects Procedure

"We're fighting something pretty gosh darn sinister," Clardy said.

He said that the committee did not want to tip off those being investigated, and that premature disclosures might wreck the committee's work.

Six officers of the distributive, processing and office workers union were examined at yesterday's first session of the committee here. All six declined on constitutional grounds of possible self-incrimination to say whether they are or ever have been Communists. One said the inquiry was started because of a strike at a New York department store.

Price Is Reported Fair at Benedictine

George Price, 65, of New Hyde Park, who was injured in a three-car mishap at Shokan yesterday morning was reported in fair condition today at the Benedictine Hospital.

State police said Price suffered lacerations of the scalp and contusions of the head. He was riding in a car operated by Gertrude Price, of New Hyde Park, which ran off Route 28 to avoid hitting two cars in collision ahead, police said.

The car of Irving Risch, of the Bronx struck the rear of the car of Ono Coons, of Shokan, which, the report said was parked facing east. The Risch car, traveling east over the crest of a hill and turning left hit the rear of the other car as the third car went off the north side of the road to avoid a pile-up.

Would Enjoin Miron Picketing

New York, July 7 (Special)—The regional director of the National Labor Board here filed suit in Federal Court Monday asking the court to issue an injunction against an AFL local union to prevent it from picketing the Miron Building Products Company, Inc., of 69 Ferry street, Kingston.

The plaintiff, Charles T. Douds, also asks that the union, Local 445 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America, AFL, be enjoined from inducing contractors in the Kingston-Newburgh area to stop doing business with the company. The union's office is at 1 Washington Place, Newburgh.

The Miron Company had filed a charge of unfair labor practices against the union on July 6 with the NLRB, contending that the union—although never certified as bargaining agent of its employes—had demanded that the company recognize it as agent. After the board investigated the charge, it issued a formal complaint against the union. Since April, says Douds, the union has "induced or encouraged" construction contractors in the area to boycott the firm.

The Kingston firm deals in retail lumber and building supplies.

County Polio Victim Released From Hospital

Ulster county's only polio victim, to date this year, is improved and has been discharged from the Benedictine Hospital, the county health department reported today.

The two-year-old girl, a resident of the southwestern area to the county, was considered a "mild case," the official report said.

Dr. Dudley W. Hargrave, county health commissioner, received from the state health department a report on polio showing a total of 143 cases in upstate New York up to June 26. This included the one case in Ulster county.

Coroner Holds Up Verdict on Death In Whitehead Case

A coroner's verdict on the death Monday morning of Frank Whitehead, 20, of Malden, 56 hours after he was critically injured in an automobile accident near this city, has been withheld until he confers with state police on the results of their investigation, Coroner Michael A. Galietta said this morning.

An autopsy has been ordered, Galietta said, but the autopsy report had not been received up to a late hour this morning.

Plunges Through Wall

Troopers reported that Whitehead was a passenger in an automobile that sideswiped a tractor trailer and then plunged through a brick wall along Route 9W two miles north of Kingston early Saturday morning. Whitehead died at Kingston Hospital at 10:45 a. m. Monday.

Walter Olkowski, 21, of Malden, listed by state police as driver of the automobile, was taken to the Kingston Hospital following the crash. Hospital authorities said this morning that he was transferred by ambulance on Monday to a hospital in the metropolitan area.

Hay Takes Fire

A load of hay being trucked by James McAuliffe, of West Hurley, into the yard of Fred J. Myers, of the same place, caught fire at about 9:30 p. m., yesterday, damaging some of the hay, paint on the truck, and its wiring. The blaze started when the truck was across the street from the fire house and the West Hurley volunteers had it under control in a short time. The hay was loose and not in bales. Fire Chief Albert E. Davis indicated the cause of the fire was undetermined, but it was thought that it could have started either from a discarded cigarette or a spark from the truck's exhaust.

Mediation Session Called on Strike OfNewburghFerry

Newburgh, July 7 (AP)—A mediation session was called today in an attempt to settle a crewmen's strike on the 210-year-old Newburgh-Beacon Ferry.

Sidney Sheiner, of the Federal Mediation Service, yesterday offered his services and both the company and Local 333, United Marine Division of the International Longshoremen's Association, AFL, accepted.

The closed mediation session was called for 10 a. m., EST, with no indication how long it would last or whether any announcement would be made when it adjourned.

The strike, which began Friday afternoon, broke a 210-year record of uninterrupted service on the ferry, which was chartered by Queen Anne in 1743. The 85 crewmen struck because of a deadlock in negotiations over wages and hours.

Variety of Transport Used

Commuters still used a seaplane, outboard motorboats and automobiles for their trips between Newburgh and Beacon, one mile apart on opposite sides of the Hudson river. Those traveling in cars drove across the Mid-Hudson River Bridge at Poughkeepsie, which made the trip between the two cities a distance of 35 miles.

Union has been demanding reduction in the present 52-hour work week to 40 hours, with no cut in pay, now ranging from $52 to $91 a week.

ministration's job-screening program to turn up information which Congress later uncovered about Tom Lyon, who had been nominated by the President to be chief of the Bureau of Mines.

The President withdrew the nomination after Lyon testified he was receiving a $5,000 a year pension from the Anaconda Corp. and that he did not like the federal mine safety law.

Eisenhower aides said at the time that the President felt there should have been better liaison work in the case. Lyon was recommended to him by the Interior Department, presumably was cleared by the White House staff, and was sponsored by Sen. Watkins (R.-Utah), who withdrew his support after Lyon testified at the capitol.

Hagerty said yesterday, however, that there was "no connection whatever" between the Lyon episode and the appointment of the liaison men.

Painter Credited With Reaching Top Of Nanga Parbat

New Delhi, India, July 7 (AP)—A man who has earned his living as a painter of church towers was credited today with reaching the top of Nanga Parbat in the Himalayan Mountains.

Nanga Parbat, at 26,660 feet, is the seventh highest mountain in the world by reckoning of the National Geographic Society of Washington. It towers over Kashmir, and has defied six earlier attempts at ascent.

Reports reaching New Delhi say the man to reach the top, member of a 10-man team from Germany and Austria, is Hermann Buhl, 26. He is rated Austria's most daring mountain climber, but after World War II earned his living painting church spires and fixing roofs in his native Tyrol.

Nanga Parbat, the "naked lady" of the Himalayas, is the second peak in that mountain range to be scaled this year. In May a New Zealander and an Indian—Sir Edmund Hillary and Tiger Tenzing—surmounted Mt. Everest, 29,000 feet high.

German authorities say Nanga Parbat has claimed the lives of 31 European climbers and porters—more than any other Himalayan peak. The first attempt on it was in 1895 by a British climber, A. F. Mummery, who died.

Farm Life Plan Chooses Officers

Chester DuMond, Jr., was elected chairman of the recently appointed Ulster County Farm Life Insurance Committee at the committee's organizational meeting June 20.

Edgar M. Clarke, Jr., was elected vice chairman, and Alfred Zimmerman, secretary.

The committee was appointed in connection with the development by State Farm Bureau federations in eight northeastern states of a life insurance company for the purpose of making available to farmers life insurance especially fitted to their needs.

Gives Reasons

In accepting the chairmanship, DuMond said that farmers have a need for life insurance to protect their wives and children from being saddled with heavy indebtedness in case of premature death, for education of their children and to protect their estates from liquidation in order to pay estate taxes.

A series of meetings will be held in the county to explain the proposed insurance program, DuMond stated. Families of Farm Bureau members and other farmers will be able to make reservations at these meetings for charter life insurance policies in the new company.

Leniency Is Shown

the budget of the disgraced police force by 750 million east marks (thirty million dollars) another West Berlin newspaper, Nacht Depesche, reported. It said the money will be diverted to development of light industry and more consumer goods in an announced policy of improving conditions for the mutinous workers.

Spurred by serious food shortages, the Communist East German government held out new promises to disgruntled farmers today to lure them into delivering quotas asked from the new grain harvest.

Quotas were reduced and more credit and farm machinery promised, according to the West Berlin Morgenpost.

Demonstrations Reported

Demonstrations in front of empty food stores were reported in many sections. The harvest, which began last week, is expected to be slim because so many experienced farmers have fled to the west, and those remaining have been hampered by Communist red tape and lack of equipment.

Dr. James B. Conant, U. S. high commissioner in Germany, came to West Berlin today for an on-the-spot study of the situation caused by the Russian martial law barricade dividing the four-power city.

The three western commandants last night made a new demand on the Soviets to lift their armed blockade of the sector border and restore to Berliners "the right to circulate freely throughout their city."

Although it has been 20 days since the June 17 revolt, there was still no indication of when martial law would be lifted in East Berlin. At present, only persons working across the sector barrier and obtaining special passes from the Communists are allowed to cross.

Conant ostensibly came to Berlin to make a speech at Berlin's Technical University tomorrow. But most of his two-day stay will be spent in conferences with American and German officials.

Flemming Defends

reasons, such as poor efficiency in operation, high production costs, attainment of mobilization stock reserves and production rates," he said.

Willow Run was considered a secondary source because the plane was originated, and was being jointly produced, by Fairchild Aircraft Corp., at Hagerstown, Md. Fairchild's unit cost, the senators said, was about one fifth of Kaiser's.

Reporters also questioned Flemming on air force cancellation of multi-million dollar orders for seven monster hydraulic presses, designed to squeeze out wing and fuselage parts with record speed. While these cancellations were pending, they were attributed to the Eisenhower administration's economy program.

Attributed to Re-evaluation

Flemming, however, attributed them to a re-evaluation of the heavy press program in the light of technological developments. Here, also the mobilization base was not involved, he said.

The mobilization policy of the Eisenhower administration, as enunciated by Flemming, calls for the filling of any gaps in the country's machinery, tools, equipment, power and materials supply which would be needed for all-out war: and for the "systematic maintenance" of idle war production equipment when not in use.

The statement calls, at the outset, for a calculation of how much production would be available for military use in the first three years of war, after subtracting from total national output enough to give civilians a "rock bottom" economy.

As the next step, the plan calls for an appraisal of specific industries, to determine whether each is capable of meeting the military program determined upon. This survey would disclose any "gaps" in the industrial base for mobilization.

"Thus the ground will be laid for decisions as to whether to fill in gaps in the national plan, or modify the military plan, or both," the ODM statement said.

Nixon Might Make

Stassen on a recent trip to the Near East. The President apparently believed Nixon could help iron out some rough spots in U. S. relations with Asiatic countries.

As Personal Representative

Nixon would go as Eisenhower's personal representative and as such would be available for talks with President Synman Rhee of South Korea if the occasion arose for such discussions.

Recently Eisenhower told senators he was willing to send any man in the government for such talks with Rhee and it was immediately assumed he had either Dulles or Nixon in mind.

Dulles said later the President was discussing the possibility of talks with Rhee after the signing of a Korean truce and before a peace conference might begin. Rhee currently is reported entirely satisfied to negotiate truce conditions with Walter S. Robertson, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern Affairs.

Nixon's trip originally was brought up for discussion at the White House before the difficulties arose over Rhee's refusal to go along with proposed truce terms.

Joseph Sommers, president of the Uptown Business Men's Association was in New York today and not available for comment.

Other association members refused comment, when they were queried.

It was learned however that Sommers probably will call a special meeting for tomorrow after the stores close for the day to discuss the summer schedule.

Recalled by Navy

DR. FREDERIC HOLCOMB, JR.

Dr. Frederic Holcomb, Jr. has closed his office at 41 Pearl street because of recall to active duty with the Navy Medical Corps. Dr. Holcomb left Saturday for his post at the Naval Hospital in Naples, Italy. Dr. Holcomb was a graduate of the University of Virginia and Albany Medical College. Following an internship at the U. S. Naval Hospital Bainbridge, Md., he served with marine occupation forces in China in 1945 and 1946. He opened his Kingston practice in urology in 1949 after a residency at Albany Hospital.

Council Will . . .

Under Welfare Commissioner

Commissioner Murray explained today that operation of the chronic hospital would be under supervision of the county welfare commissioner and would operate similar to the 24-bed infirmary at the County Home in New Paltz. Primarily intended for welfare clients, the hospital might be able to accept several paying patients where the need for such care in shown, he said.

The Board of Supervisors at a meeting June 9 adopted a resolution asking the city to deed the former city home property to the county for $1. The city home is no longer used as such.

Another resolution adopted directed the board's Welfare Committee to secure detailed plans and specifications for renovation and equipping the proposed hospital if the Common Council accepts the transfer bid.

Both Pass Unanimously

Both resolutions were sponsored by Supervisor Kenneth Wilson of the town of Woodstock and both passed unanimously.

At the board's previous meeting, Wilson proposed it consider the use of the building to care for the elderly persons who were chronically ill. He pointed out at that time that some of those persons were housed "seven or eight in a room" at nursing homes.

He also noted that a new state law reduces the county welfare costs in some departments through more state aid and provides 50-50 share of cost by the state for treaatment of chronically ill persons who are receiving public assistance.

Ulster Long Has Led

Ulster county has traditionally been a leading county in medical services. In 1928, the county established a Tuberculosis Hospital in Kingston, and has since constructed a tumor clinic known as one of the finest of its type in the state. It was one of the first counties to establish a health department in combination with the city. Its proponents point out that the establishment of a hospital for the chronically ill would be another step toward better facilities to meet the needs of the county.

Committee Speeds Subversives Check

New York, July 7 (AP)—The House Un-American Activities Committee split into two sections today and held simultaneous closed hearings to speed up its investigation of "subversion in the field of labor."

The two executive hearings were presided over by Rep. Kit Clardy (R-Mich.) and Rep. Gordon H. Scherer (R-Ohio) in the federal building.

Rep. Harold R. Velde (R-Ill.), committee chairman, in a hospital here, was unable to attend the sessions. He issued a statement yesterday in which he said his group would "use every legal weapon at our command to expose * * * un-American activities wherever they exist" in labor.

Clardy said that about seven persons would be questioned at today's closed sessions, and that the committee would return to Washington tonight. He said the committee had many executive sessions scheduled, and that a summary of the committee's work would be issued when the committee feels the time is appropriate.

Protects Procedure

"We're fighting something pretty gosh darn sinister," Clardy said.

He said that the committee did not want to tip off those being investigated, and that premature disclosures might wreck the committee's work.

Six officers of the distributive, processing and office workers union were examined at yesterday's first session of the committee here. All six declined on constitutional grounds of possible self-incrimination to say whether they are or ever have been Communists. One said the inquiry was started because of a strike at a New York department store.

Price Is Reported Fair at Benedictine

George Price, 65, of New Hyde Park, who was injured in a three-car mishap at Shokan yesterday morning was reported in fair condition today at the Benedictine Hospital.

State police said Price suffered lacerations of the scalp and contusions of the head. He was riding in a car operated by Gertrude Price, of New Hyde Park, which ran off Route 28 to avoid hitting two cars in collision ahead, police said.

The car of Irving Risch, of the Bronx struck the rear of the car of Ono Coons, of Shokan, which, the report said was parked facing east. The Risch car, traveling east over the crest of a hill and turning left hit the rear of the other car as the third car went off the north side of the road to avoid a pile-up.

Dillon Is Appointed

Albany, July 7 (AP)—Gov. Dewey today appointed Edward F. Dillon of Flushing to the State Liquor Authority. The salary is $9,325. Dillon, a Democrat, succeeds Vincent J. Ferris of Brooklyn, who died last Sept. 11. By law, no more than three members of the five-member authority may be of the same political party. Dillon, 58, will serve until April 12, 1957. He is president of the New York State Allied Printing Trades Council.

Greatest Gasoline Development in 31 Years!

Up to 15% more power

Up to 150% more sparkplug life

TCP*, a Shell-discovered additive, now blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, puts an end to greatest cause of power loss in automobile engines.

Strange as it may seem, the majority of cars on the road today are not putting out their full horsepower.

Perhaps you may have noticed that your power "falls off" especially when accelerating, climbing a hill, or driving on the open highway.

The reason is that, in the average engine, deposits are constantly accumulating on the sparkplugs and in the combustion chambers. They actually "short-circuit" your sparkplugs and cause pre-ignition of the fuel mixture, especially when you want extra power and "step on it" hard!

To overcome this condition, Shell Research discovered TCP—a remarkable fuel additive which has the property of counteracting the power-wasting effect of these deposits.

*Patent applied for

As a result, Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP gives you up to 15% more power, up to 150% more sparkplug life, plus an increase in gasoline mileage.

Shell Premium with TCP is the most significant development in gasoline since the introduction of tetraethyl lead in 1922.

New and old engines benefit

If you have a new car, particularly one with a high-compression engine, Shell Premium with TCP is essential if you want it to keep on delivering its original power for the normal life of the sparkplugs. But high-compression or not, Shell Premium with TCP keeps your engine working like new.

Owners of older cars also benefit. Even if your car has gone 30,000 miles or more, your engine can get back much of its original power by the use of Shell Premium with TCP.

Shell Premium with TCP quick to act

So rapidly does Shell Premium with TCP counteract the deposits on sparkplugs and in combustion chambers, that you'll feel your engine's had a tune-up before you've finished the second tankful. You enjoy that new car pep again.

Available only at your Shell Dealer's

TCP is Shell's trademark for the remarkable additive originally developed by Shell Research for aviation fuels. Until now it has been largely restricted to military aircraft.

Moran School Summer Term

The Moran-Spencerian School of Business in the Freeman Building on Fair street announces that students are still enrolling for the regular summer term.

The special time schedule, 8:30 a. m. to 1:30 p. m., will continue through August 21. Students may transfer to the fall term on September 8 with full credit for summer courses taken.

College graduates and undergraduates find shorthand, typewriting and related courses valuable supplements to their educational attainments, according to Joseph J. Morgan, principal. In addition to increasing the benefits derived from college courses, these subjects open up to college graduates a vast array of highly paid positions in the field of business.

In close touch with the office employment situation, the Moran-Spencerian School predicts that there will be a continuing shortage of office workers for many years. This prediction is based on the fact that for more than 10 years it has been impossible to create a reserve supply of trained office help.

Never before have employers been in greater need of the private business school, Morgan pointed out. Business workers released on completion of service in the defense program are being quickly absorbed in the employment market, and "it follows that more and more young people must undergo this specialized training in order to keep pace with the continued rapid rate of expansion of American business" he added.

The Moran-Spencerian office in the Freeman Building is open daily for counselling and registration, evenings by appointment.

How would you like to attend "the great seven cents sale," as was run by Carl's, the big Kingston store, (where Montgomery-Ward is today) back on Friday, Feb. 5, 1915. The store was run by E. O. Rose, V. A. Gorman and A. E. Rose in those days. Here are some of the items from the full page ad. as it appeared in The Kingston Freeman and Journal of that date: Men's hanks, good size with narrow hems went for seven cents, so did good gingham aprons. All the pillow cases you wanted, bleached and with deep hems, good size could be bought for seven cents. Bleached union toweling, 18 inches wide with colored borders, or bleached Turkish towels, fringed or hemmed. There was also colored outing flannel, plain or figured. Curtain materials, 36 inches wide, good assortment of patterns, even with fancy borders, white, cream or ecru were also seven cents a yard. Ladies' black hose, children's hats, children's black hose, fine and heavy ribs, were seven cents. Calico, lights or darks, two yards for seven cents. White and colored table oilcloth, one and one-quarter yards wide, one-half yard for seven cents. Alarm clocks, Gilbert make, in those days, could be bought for only 57 cents. Who can deny that those were the "good old days."

I think the only time we had an hour of sunshine about May 28 was during the launching of the minesweeper at South Rondout Thursday, May 28. Spending some half hour looking for the best place to view the launching one realizes the magnificent views of the creek many of the homes of Rondout enjoy. Finally I found a spot on the hill on Hudson street. The home owners on Hudson street certainly know how to make the most of each inch of their lovely garden space. Each lawn is so neat and trim, not a weed anywhere around their flower bushes. I stood near a very trim hedge which was so bushy and thick showing the good care and earth on Hudson street. I can imagine what some New Yorkers living in tall buildings without even a view of the sky would give for a morning view of the creek like residents of Hudson street have daily The most expensive penthouse garden in New York would be proud to have some of the little humble corner gardens I saw on this street. I had a good half hour waiting for the AM-430 to be launched and enjoyed the Hudson street landscaped gardens and view in general there as much as finally watching the men pull the big beams from underneath the minesweeper and seeing it glide into the water.

I remember when I stayed at a hotel in New York, around the 18th floor and wanted to look out to see what the weather was like, no matter how far I leaned all I saw were other buildings higher up. I did not know if it was raining or what, finally as I went to the elevator shaft I noticed a sign hung there which informed the residents of the hotel what the weather was outside. No one on Hudson street has that problem. Especially hotel rooms if they are in the inside in New York one begins to think one does live in a tall cave. That's why come summer and weekends many New Yorkers come up this way for their two weeks or so of sunshine if the weather is so disposed. When I used to tell folks I was from Ulster county, Catskill Mountain section and Kingston, they acted as though I had the use of a yacht or something.

Moran School Summer Term

The Moran-Spencerian School of Business in the Freeman Building on Fair street announces that students are still enrolling for the regular summer term.

The special time schedule, 8:30 a. m. to 1:30 p. m., will continue through August 21. Students may transfer to the fall term on September 8 with full credit for summer courses taken.

College graduates and undergraduates find shorthand, typewriting and related courses valuable supplements to their educational attainments, according to Joseph J. Morgan, principal. In addition to increasing the benefits derived from college courses, these subjects open up to college graduates a vast array of highly paid positions in the field of business.

In close touch with the office employment situation, the Moran-Spencerian School predicts that there will be a continuing shortage of office workers for many years. This prediction is based on the fact that for more than 10 years it has been impossible to create a reserve supply of trained office help.

Never before have employers been in greater need of the private business school, Morgan pointed out. Business workers released on completion of service in the defense program are being quickly absorbed in the employment market, and "it follows that more and more young people must undergo this specialized training in order to keep pace with the continued rapid rate of expansion of American business" he added.

The Moran-Spencerian office in the Freeman Building is open daily for counselling and registration, evenings by appointment.

Do You Remember

How would you like to attend "the great seven cents sale," as was run by Carl's, the big Kingston store, (where Montgomery-Ward is today) back on Friday, Feb. 5, 1915. The store was run by E. O. Rose, V. A. Gorman and A. E. Rose in those days. Here are some of the items from the full page ad. as it appeared in The Kingston Freeman and Journal of that date: Men's hanks, good size with narrow hems went for seven cents, so did good gingham aprons. All the pillow cases you wanted, bleached and with deep hems, good size could be bought for seven cents. Bleached union toweling, 18 inches wide with colored borders, or bleached Turkish towels, fringed or hemmed. There was also colored outing flannel, plain or figured. Curtain materials, 36 inches wide, good assortment of patterns, even with fancy borders, white, cream or ecru were also seven cents a yard. Ladies' black hose, children's hats, children's black hose, fine and heavy ribs, were seven cents. Calico, lights or darks, two yards for seven cents. White and colored table oilcloth, one and one-quarter yards wide, one-half yard for seven cents. Alarm clocks, Gilbert make, in those days, could be bought for only 57 cents. Who can deny that those were the "good old days."

GOOD TASTE TODAY

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

BY ALL MEANS EAT

A rule of etiquette that I have never before heard of is told me in the following letter from "a professional diner-out." "Because of my job, it is necessary that I go to more than a few business luncheons and dinners. Invariably I am seated next to someone who likes to talk, and I never get the chance to finish my meal. This could be attributed to two things: Either other people eat faster than I do, or else they don't stop eating while being spoken to. In discussing this with an office associate, he said that he didn't think it was impolite to continue eating while someone was addressing the group or even speaking directly to you! I can't believe that he is right—especially about this last! I would very much like to have your opinion."

In the many thousands of letters sent me I never before heard of such a requirement as sitting with unmoving jaws while listening to a table-neighbor's conversation! To talk with your mouth full is an offense. But if it were an offense to chew quietly while listening, no one could eat!

Shower for Manager's Wife

Dear Mrs. Post: I am one of twenty salesgirls in a department store. The manager's wife is expecting a baby soon and several of the girls thought it would be nice to give her a stork shower. We like the manager very much, but none of us know his wife except very slightly. I think it would be highly out of place for us to give such a party for her. Will you please give your opinion?

Answer: In your places I would tell him and then decide definitely according to his reaction. If he is obviously pleased, give it. If he seems embarrassed, you await, the arrival of the baby and send the gift to it.

Housewarming

Dear Mrs. Post: How long is it permissible to wait, after moving into a new house, to give a housewarming? Must such a party be given soon after moving in, or may one wait as long as six months before giving this party?

Answer: There is no rule as to how soon it must be given. It really depends upon when the furnishings are ready to be shown.

State Service Award Deadline Is Slated

With the entry deadline of August 1 less than a month away, the Community Service Awards contest of the New York State Fair again takes the spotlight of women's interest throughout the state.

Four $100 prizes and citations signed by Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Commissioner C. Chester Du Mond and Harold L. Creal, director of the New York State Fair, will be awarded.

Martha H. Eddy, director of women's activities for the State Fair, emphasizes that no entry fee is required, and that any women's group or organization in New York State "whose unpaid efforts have resulted in current achievements of outstanding civic usefulness" is eligible.

"Many questions have been asked by women given the responsibility of preparing the 400-word description of the project entered," Mrs. Eddy said.

"I think the best advice we can give them is to remember that the judges know nothing of their communities or community needs. These can be very briefly established in the description.

"The brochure which contains the entry blank and which we are happy to mail out on request, sets forth the factors important in judging the entries. The first standard of the Community Service Awards committee will be the value of each project to its community."

Mrs. Eddy finally emphasized that four weeks remain to prepare entries, and urged the women's organizations of the state to send for the second annual brochure by writing to Women's Division, New York State Fair, Syracuse.

The awards will be made at a dinner on Women's Organizations day, Wednesday, Sept. 9, at the New York State Fair.

East Kingston Will Observe Cabrini Day

The Feast of St. Frances Cabrini will be celebrated on Sunday, July 11, at East Kingston.

After a Mass at St. Colman's Church at 10 a. m., there will be procession with the statue of St. Frances Cabrini through the village of East Kingston. Many of the residents look forward to this celebration, as Mother Cabrini was the only one from this part of the country to be sainted.

Mother Cabrini reposed in a tomb at West Park until she was removed and made a saint. Her body now lies in state at the Mother Cabrini Church in Washington Heights, New York.

Bernice Annette Ahl Becomes Bride of William Hazen Burr

Miss Bernice Annette Ahl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Ahl, 6 Spruce street, was married to William Hazen Burr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Burr, 17 Washington avenue, at 2 p. m. Sunday, July 5, in St. Peter's Church. The Rev. Joseph Geis, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony. A reception for 125 guests was held at Moose Home, 156 West Chestnut street when Rodney DuBois provided the music.

White candles and summer flowers decorated the church. James Sweeney, as organist, played traditional wedding selections. Robert Cahill was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white sheer marquisette over satin, fashioned with an illusion neckline outined in white daisies, fitted bodice and long sleeves, and a bouffant hooped skirt designed with cascades of white daisies, terminating in a long circular train. Her veil was secured to a cap of white lace, trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a white satin prayer book, with white roses and white satin streamers.

Miss Arlene Ahl was her sister's maid-of-honor. With her ballerina length strapless gown of blue tulle over taffeta, styled with a hooped skirt, she wore a matching net stole and blue milan half-hat, and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses.

The bridesmaids were Miss Margie Howard and Miss Joyce Ann Newcomb. Their orchid gowns were identical to the honor attendant's. Their headpieces were bands of orchid flowers with nose veils and they carried colonial bouquets of yellow roses.

Miss Dorothea Ahl was her sister's flower girl. With her full-length frock of yellow net over taffeta, she wore a matching half-hat of milan straw, and carried a colonial bouquet of assorted flowers.

Walter Burr of 17 Washington avenue was his brother's best man. The ushers were William DeKoskie, this city, and Richard Vinson of Newburgh.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, 'Children Are People, etc.)

BY ALL MEANS EAT

A rule of etiquette that I have never before heard of is told me in the following letter from "a professional diner-out." "Because of my job, it is necessary that I go to more than a few business luncheons and dinners. Invariably I am seated next to someone who likes to talk, and I never get the chance to finish my meal. This could be attributed to two things: Either other people eat faster than I do, or else they don't stop eating while being spoken to. In discussing this with an office associate, he said that he didn't think it was impolite to continue eating while someone was addressing the group or even speaking directly to you! I can't believe that he is right—especially about this last! I would very much like to have your opinion."

In the many thousands of letters sent me I never before heard of such a requirement as sitting with unmoving jaws while listening to a table-neighbor's conversation! To talk with your mouth full is an offense. But if it were an offense to chew quietly while listening, no one could eat!

Shower for Manager's Wife

Dear Mrs. Post: I am one of twenty salesgirls in a department store. The manager's wife is expecting a baby soon and several of the girls thought it would be nice to give her a stork shower. We like the manager very much, but none of us know his wife except very slightly. I think it would be highly out of place for us to give such a party for her. Will you please give your opinion?

Answer: In your places I would tell him and then decide definitely according to his reaction. If he is obviously pleased, give it. If he seems embarrassed, you await, the arrival of the baby and send the gift to it.

Housewarming

Dear Mrs. Post: How long is it permissible to wait, after moving into a new house, to give a housewarming? Must such a party be given soon after moving in, or may one wait as long as six months before giving this party?

Answer: There is no rule as to how soon it must be given. It really depends upon when the furnishings are ready to be shown.

State Service Award Deadline Is Slated

With the entry deadline of August 1 less than a month away, the Community Service Awards contest of the New York State Fair again takes the spotlight of women's interest throughout the state.

Four $100 prizes and citations signed by Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Commissioner C. Chester Du Mond and Harold L. Creal, director of the New York State Fair, will be awarded.

Martha H. Eddy, director of women's activities for the State Fair, emphasizes that no entry fee is required, and that any women's group or organization in New York State "whose unpaid efforts have resulted in current achievements of outstanding civic usefulness" is eligible.

"Many questions have been asked by women given the responsibility of preparing the 400-word description of the project entered," Mrs. Eddy said.

"I think the best advice we can give them is to remember that the judges know nothing of their communities or community needs. These can be very briefly established in the description.

"The brochure which contains the entry blank and which we are happy to mail out on request, sets forth the factors important in judging the entries. The first standard of the Community Service Awards committee will be the value of each project to its community."

Mrs. Eddy finally emphasized that four weeks remain to prepare entries, and urged the women's organizations of the state to send for the second annual brochure by writing to Women's Division, New York State Fair, Syracuse.

The awards will be made at a dinner on Women's Organizations day, Wednesday, Sept. 9, at the New York State Fair.

East Kingston Will Observe Cabrini Day

The Feast of St. Frances Cabrini will be celebrated on Sunday, July 11, at East Kingston.

After a Mass at St. Colman's Church at 10 a. m., there will be procession with the statue of St. Frances Cabrini through the village of East Kingston. Many of the residents look forward to this celebration, as Mother Cabrini was the only one from this part of the country to be sainted.

Mother Cabrini reposed in a tomb at West Park until she was removed and made a saint. Her body now lies in state at the Mother Cabrini Church in Washington Heights, New York.

Bernice Annette Ahl Becomes Bride of William Hazen Burr

Miss Bernice Annette Ahl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Ahl, 6 Spruce street, was married to William Hazen Burr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Burr, 17 Washington avenue, at 2 p. m. Sunday, July 5, in St. Peter's Church. The Rev. Joseph Geis, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony. A reception for 125 guests was held at Moose Home, 156 West Chestnut street when Rodney DuBois provided the music.

White candles and summer flowers decorated the church. James Sweeney, as organist, played traditional wedding selections. Robert Cahill was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white sheer marquisette over satin, fashioned with an illusion neckline outined in white daisies, fitted bodice and long sleeves, and a bouffant hooped skirt designed with cascades of white daisies, terminating in a long circular train. Her veil was secured to a cap of white lace, trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a white satin prayer book, with white roses and white satin streamers.

Miss Arlene Ahl was her sister's maid-of-honor. With her ballerina length strapless gown of blue tulle over taffeta, styled with a hooped skirt, she wore a matching net stole and blue milan half-hat, and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses.

The bridesmaids were Miss Margie Howard and Miss Joyce Ann Newcomb. Their orchid gowns were identical to the honor attendant's. Their headpieces were bands of orchid flowers with nose veils and they carried colonial bouquets of yellow roses.

Miss Dorothea Ahl was her sister's flower girl. With her full-length frock of yellow net over taffeta, she wore a matching half-hat of milan straw, and carried a colonial bouquet of assorted flowers.

Walter Burr of 17 Washington avenue was his brother's best man. The ushers were William DeKoskie, this city, and Richard Vinson of Newburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Burr left for a wedding trip to the New England states. For traveling, the bride chose a navy blue taffeta dress, white accessories and a corsage of white roses.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School, class of '52, attended Kingston Hospital School of Nursing, and is employed by the F. W. Woolworth Company.

The bridegroom was graduated from Kingston High School, class of '51, and from the State University of Applied Arts and Sciences at Utica, class of '53, where he was a member of Tau Omicron Pi, national fraternity. South Makes Home After Second Ruff

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

If you want to make six spades with today's hand, should you try to establish hearts or diamonds as your chief side suit? When the hand was actually played, South decided to go after the diamonds because the suit was both longer and stronger than the hearts.

East took the first trick with the ace of clubs and returned the suit, South winning with the king. Declarer led a heart to the king, drew three rounds of trumps, and cashed the ace of hearts to see if the queen would fall. When it didn't, he took the king and ace of diamonds and continnued by ruffing a diamond. Now neither suit could be brought in, and the slam was doomed.

The point that South overlooked was that he could afford to ruff hearts twice with low trumps in the dummy, whereas he could afford to ruff diamonds only once in his own hand. This more than made up for the difference in length and strength between the two suits.

After South wins the second trick with the king of clubs the correct continuation is to lead to the king of hearts once, draw one trump with the king, and ruff a heart in dummy. Dummy next takes the ace of spades and South gets back to his hand with the king of diamonds to ruff another low heart.

When the sceond ruff succeeds, South is home. He regains the lead in the safest possible way by ruffing a club with the ten of spades. It is then easy to draw the last trump with the queen of spades, cash the ace and jack of hearts, and then take the last trick in dummy with the ace of diamonds.

The Quiet Man At the Orpheum

The Quiet Man, a superb screen masterpiece which skillfully combines a powerful romantic theme with dynamic and roaring action, will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre on Friday and Saturday, July 10 and 11 at popular prices.

The title of this highly entertaining cinema signifies a state of wishful thinking rather than denoting a quiet man. It's the story of an Irish-born American who is forced by circumstances to fight every inch of the way to gain a foothold in America. It is only after the tragic death of his opponent in the prize ring that he seeks quietude and peace in his quaint birthplace in Eire.

Contrary to his hopes, The Quiet Man, portrayed by John Wayne, finds nothing but turmoil from the moment of his arrival with the entanglement featuring a momentous battle over the dowry of his Irish bride, portrayed by Maureen O'Hara, with her ruthless relatives, Victor McLaglen.

This is said to be the first American feature motion picture to be filmed in Eire and the picturesque countryside in color as a motion picture.

Branding Trouble

Denver (AP) — The fancy electric and gas-heated branding irons now being used by some cattlemen are putting brands that can't be read on Colorado's cattle, says Ed Paul, Colorado brand commissioner. It's the greenhorn cattlemen who are messing up the brands, Paul believes. Paul has high hopes for improvement soon because the men attracted to the business by high profits a few years back are now getting out as the price of livestock drops. "They get their irons too hot or too cold," he says. "If the irons are cold, they won't make permanent scars. If they're too hot, they burn across the brands and smear them up," he explained.

If you want to make six spades with today's hand, should you try to establish hearts or diamonds as your chief side suit? When the hand was actually played, South decided to go after the diamonds because the suit was both longer and stronger than the hearts.

East took the first trick with the ace of clubs and returned the suit, South winning with the king. Declarer led a heart to the king, drew three rounds of trumps, and cashed the ace of hearts to see if the queen would fall. When it didn't, he took the king and ace of diamonds and continnued by ruffing a diamond. Now neither suit could be brought in, and the slam was doomed.

The point that South overlooked was that he could afford to ruff hearts twice with low trumps in the dummy, whereas he could afford to ruff diamonds only once in his own hand. This more than made up for the difference in length and strength between the two suits.

After South wins the second trick with the king of clubs the correct continuation is to lead to the king of hearts once, draw one trump with the king, and ruff a heart in dummy. Dummy next takes the ace of spades and South gets back to his hand with the king of diamonds to ruff another low heart.

When the sceond ruff succeeds, South is home. He regains the lead in the safest possible way by ruffing a club with the ten of spades. It is then easy to draw the last trump with the queen of spades, cash the ace and jack of hearts, and then take the last trick in dummy with the ace of diamonds.

Singapore (AP) — A number of mines have closed owing to the big tumble in the price of tin, the head of one of the two smelting companies in Malaya disclosed. E. M. F. The Quiet Man At the Orpheum

The Quiet Man, a superb screen masterpiece which skillfully combines a powerful romantic theme with dynamic and roaring action, will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre on Friday and Saturday, July 10 and 11 at popular prices.

The title of this highly entertaining cinema signifies a state of wishful thinking rather than denoting a quiet man. It's the story of an Irish-born American who is forced by circumstances to fight every inch of the way to gain a foothold in America. It is only after the tragic death of his opponent in the prize ring that he seeks quietude and peace in his quaint birthplace in Eire.

Contrary to his hopes, The Quiet Man, portrayed by John Wayne, finds nothing but turmoil from the moment of his arrival with the entanglement featuring a momentous battle over the dowry of his Irish bride, portrayed by Maureen O'Hara, with her ruthless relatives, Victor McLaglen.

This is said to be the first American feature motion picture to be filmed in Eire and the picturesque countryside in color as a motion picture.

Branding Trouble

Denver (AP) — The fancy electric and gas-heated branding irons now being used by some cattlemen are putting brands that can't be read on Colorado's cattle, says Ed Paul, Colorado brand commissioner. It's the greenhorn cattlemen who are messing up the brands, Paul believes. Paul has high hopes for improvement soon because the men attracted to the business by high profits a few years back are now getting out as the price of livestock drops. "They get their irons too hot or too cold," he says. "If the irons are cold, they won't make permanent scars. If they're too hot, they burn across the brands and smear them up," he explained.

City League All Stars Plan Saturday Night Game at Stadium

Meet Waterbury Nine in Benefit For League

First Half Playoff Scheduled Today

City Baseball League officials and managers are concerned with two important items today.

First is this evening's playoff between Wiltwyck Motors and Colonial Merchants to determine the first half championship.

Then follows an important business meeting to arrange plans for a Saturday night exhibition game against the crack Waterbury Colored Pilots at municipal stadium.

Arrangements for the Saturday arclight contest, first major action at the uptown park this season, were completed by Fred Davi of Glasco.

Managers and officials will select the City League All Star team this week and all proceeds will be turned over to the twilight league.

Highly Rated Club

Davi described the Waterbury club as one of the strongest independent units in that area. They have played in and around Connecticut for several years and have an excellent reputation in independent baseball.

Manager Tony Williams of the Motormen and Pucker Davis of the Merchants are expected to pull out all the stops in an effort to grab the crucial contest.

The teams finished the season with 7 and 1 records and split their two meetings during the regular schedule.

Fisher to Hurl

Tommy Fisher, an all-time City League pitching great, is the probable Wiltwyck Motor choice, but Manager Williams will not stay with him too long if Tom runs into trouble. He has two other standout flingers in Joe Digastino, 1952 MVP, and Ernie McCormick, who holds the seasonal strikeout record of 15.

Pitching has played an important role in the Merchants' success and Zeke Klosterman figures to draw the important assignment, now that George Telepas is doing his stuff in the Kitty League. Charlie "Chuck" Engle and Tex Brown are available for relief.

In other games, Sickler's Delivery upset Beichert's Studebakers, 6-2, and Esopus Legion and Alpine Climbers battled to a nine-inning, 2-2 deadlock.

In the Esopus-Alpine contest, neither team scored after the second inning. Bill Ferguson pitched 4-hit ball for Esopus but the name of the Alpine flinger was not listed in the official report.

Subways scored six times in the fifth and sixth frames to lead Lincoln Park, 7-0, before the rally broke loose. Joe Ruzzo, Bud Leininger and Charlie Milano backed Ken Hornbeck's pitching with two hits each. B. Schatzel and Tom Spada stroked two hits apiece for the winners.

Putzie Brown stopped Beichert's with five scattered hits, while Sickler's picked up nine off Ed Decker, including three singles by B. Sinsapaugh and two each by Brown and Alecca.

'Lazy Bones' Would Have Won All But Ol Debbil Gas Tank Ran Dry

Cliff Miller, 15-year-old Kingston Hich School student and son of Harvey "Chick" Miller, won Class honors in the 80-mile Poughkeepsie-to-Hudson outboard marathon Saturday.

But that's only half the story. And it will be a long time before he forgets the details.

He could have won it all if he hadn's run out of gas in sight of the finish line and had to set powerless in his "Lazy Bones" while two others flashed past to beat him out of the honor of being the first of 81 entries to finish.

Not that it mattered much, since the race was decided on a class basis, and young Cliff won Class A, but it would have been a major thrill for the youngster to win it all.

Denis Grenier, an 18-year-old student of Howard Beach, L. I. scored first in the Class B. field. John Montesi, a Brooklyn mechanic, won Class C and Class D honors went to Thomas Whalen, 21-year-old electrician.

The Class E victor was Filfred Rogers, 34, of Pelham Manor and leader in Class F was William Allard, 25, of Pittsfield.

81 Compete

There were 81 entries for the event, being conducted for the first time. The weatherman gave superb cooperation. The surface of the Hudson was only slightly rippled by a cooling breeze. Conditions were ideal.

Miller—The Story

Young Miller provided the highlight performance of the day. He led the field to Hudson and was in front all the way back until he reached the mid-Hudson bridge.

There his "Lazy Bones" ran out of gas. It was a critical moment for the 15-year-old since racing rules stipulate that a boat must finish under its own power.

An exciting scene followed in front of several thousand spectators who were crowded near the finish line. While Cliff kept pumping the motor to make it aid in the locomotion, a friendly enthuiast jumped into a runabout and circled in back of Miller's craft, hoping that the swells would help it along.

But is was of no avail as Grenier, who had been chasing Miller down the river, buzzed across the finish line before Cliff could get there.

Following Miller home in Class A was Ken Myers, 23, Philmont machinist. Third was Marcel Raveau, 22, boat builder from Lindenhurst, L. I. Jimmy Relyea, 16, of Highland, took second place in Class F, while third went to Bob Viega, 18, a truck driver from Troy.

136 for Tom Fool

New York, July 7 (AP) — Tom Fool, Greentree's handicap champion, will tote 136 pounds in the $50,000-added Brooklyn Handicap at Aqueduct Saturday. Unbeaten in five starts this year, Tom Fool will give from 10 to 31 pounds to his rivals, according to the assignments made yesterday by handicapper John B. Campbell.

Shields on Leave To Defend State Golf Laurels

Albany, July 7 (AP)—Seaman Billy Shields of the U. S. Navy will defend his golf crown at the New York State Amateur tournament opening Wednesday at Utica.

Dr. Kenneth Shields, the champion's father, said last night that Billy had obtained leave from the Bainbridge, Md., Naval Training station to defend the title he won in 1951 and 1952. Shiels, a 25-year-old reservist, went on active duty nine weeks ago.

He will meet Howard Olstead of Buffalo in the first round at Yahnundasis Country Club. The tournament ends Sunday.

Shields, of Woolfert's Roost, Albany, will be paired with Howard Olmstead, Buffalo Country Club.

Area players competing in this year's tournament include Harry Affron, Southern Dutchess, Beacon; Ken March and Harry Spears, Port Jervis; Jim Molinaro, College Hill, Poughkeepsie; Harry Ostrander Jr., IBM Poughkeepsie; William McLaughlin, Henry Kowal and Bill Bogle, Dutchess Golf Club, Poughkeepsie.

No Ulster county player attempted to qualify for this year's tournament.

The SCOREBOARD

(By The Associated Press)

The St. Louis Browns may be losing themselves right out of a new home. At least they're doing a thorough job of losing in their old one.

Going into tonight's game with the pennant-aspiring Cleveland Indians, the hapless Browns are all even with the major league record for consecutive defeats in their own park.

They dropped No. 19 last night, an 11-inning 8-7 struggle with the Detroit Tigers. Only the Boston Red Sox of 1906 lost that many games in a row at home. The Browns' last victory in St. Louis was June 2.

The Browns have now slipped to within four percentage points of the last-place Tigers.

Cleveland Second

Cleveland took over second place by defeating Chicago, 6-3, but lost a half a game in its pursuit of the front running New York Yankees, who won twice from Philadelphia, 10-5, and 5-3. The Indians trail by 6½ and the White Sox by seven. Boston strengthened its hold on a first division berth, edging Washington, 2-1.

In the National League, the Brooklyn Dodgers smothered the harmless Pittsburgh Pirates, 14-2, and gained ground on all of their close rivals. The second place Milwaukee Braves and third place St. Louis Cardinals were idle and fourth place Philadelphia bowed, 6-0, to the two-hit major league debut of the New York Giants' Allan Worthington.

Chicago came from behind to nip Cincinnati, 7-6, despite Ted Kluszewski's 25th home run for the Redlegs.

Brooklyn leads Milwaukee by two games and the Cardinals by 3½.

Mickey Mantle pinch hit for the Yankees and hit a grand slam home run in the first game. Allie Reynolds came to Vic Raschi's rescue in the second game and received credit for his seventh victory. The twin defeats ran the A's losing streak to eight.

Rosen Hits 21st

Al Rosen and Dale Mitchell led a 13-hit Cleveland attack. Rosen hit his 21st home run and Mitchell collected a double and two singles in running his hitting streak to 16 games.

Ivan Delock scattered seven Washington hits in his first major league start of the season but it took a pinch hit single in the ninth by Ted Lepico to beat southpaw Tommy Byrne.

The distance-hitting Dodgers equalled the National League record for home runs in consecutive games when Carl Furillo, Gil Hodges and Billy Cox connected against the Pirates. The Dodgers have hit one or more homers in 19 straight games.

Worthington, a former Alabama football player just off the Giants' Minneapolis farm, pitched hitless ball until Smokey Burgess doubled with two out in the fifth. The righthander then checked the Phillies completely until two were out in the ninth when Johnny Wyrostek doubled.

Al Hunt pitched shutout ball for six innings and survived a mild scare in the seventh as Subway Grill whipped Lincoln Park Inn, 7-4, yesterday for its 11th City Softball League win in 12 starts.

In other games, Sickler's Delivery upset Beichert's Studebakers, 6-2, and Esopus Legion and Alpine Climbers battled to a nine-inning, 2-2 deadlock.

In the Esopus-Alpine contest, neither team scored after the second inning. Bill Ferguson pitched 4-hit ball for Esopus but the name of the Alpine flinger was not listed in the official report.

Subways scored six times in the fifth and sixth frames to lead Lincoln Park, 7-0, before the rally broke loose. Joe Ruzzo, Bud Leininger and Charlie Milano backed Ken Hornbeck's pitching with two hits each. B. Schatzel and Tom Spada stroked two hits apiece for the winners.

Putzie Brown stopped Beichert's with five scattered hits, while Sickler's picked up nine off Ed Decker, including three singles by B. Sinsapaugh and two each by Brown and Alecca.

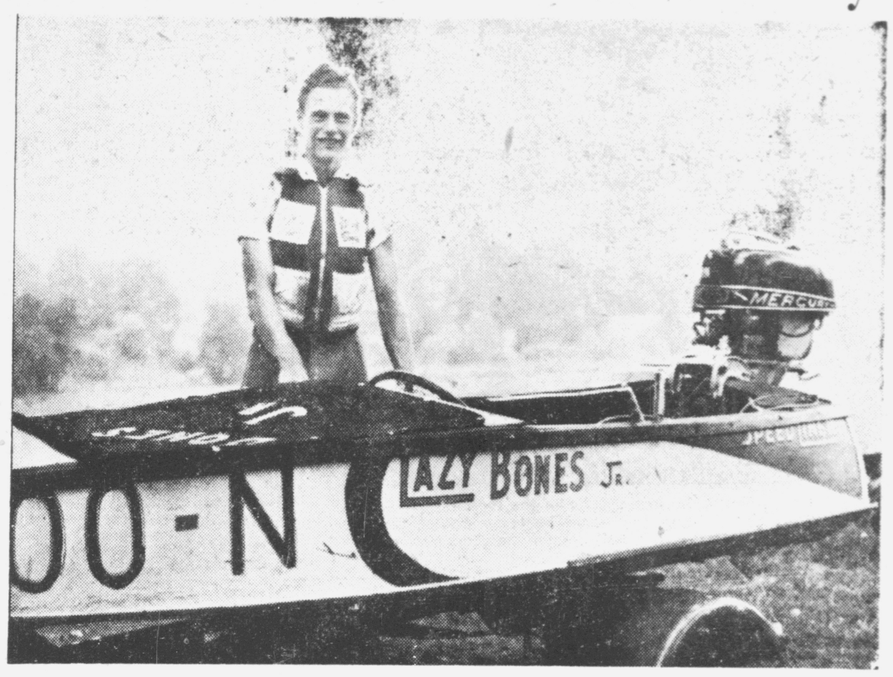
'Lazy Bones' Would Have Won All But Ol Debbil Gas Tank Ran Dry



Cliff Miller, 15-year-old Kingston Hich School student and son of Harvey "Chick" Miller, won Class honors in the 80-mile Poughkeepsie-to-Hudson outboard marathon Saturday.

But that's only half the story. And it will be a long time before he forgets the details.

He could have won it all if he hadn's run out of gas in sight of the finish line and had to set powerless in his "Lazy Bones" while two others flashed past to beat him out of the honor of being the first of 81 entries to finish.

Not that it mattered much, since the race was decided on a class basis, and young Cliff won Class A, but it would have been a major thrill for the youngster to win it all.

Denis Grenier, an 18-year-old student of Howard Beach, L. I. scored first in the Class B. field. John Montesi, a Brooklyn mechanic, won Class C and Class D honors went to Thomas Whalen, 21-year-old electrician.

The Class E victor was Filfred Rogers, 34, of Pelham Manor and leader in Class F was William Allard, 25, of Pittsfield.

81 Compete

There were 81 entries for the event, being conducted for the first time. The weatherman gave superb cooperation. The surface of the Hudson was only slightly rippled by a cooling breeze. Conditions were ideal.

Miller—The Story

Young Miller provided the highlight performance of the day. He led the field to Hudson and was in front all the way back until he reached the mid-Hudson bridge.

There his "Lazy Bones" ran out of gas. It was a critical moment for the 15-year-old since racing rules stipulate that a boat must finish under its own power.

An exciting scene followed in front of several thousand spectators who were crowded near the finish line. While Cliff kept pumping the motor to make it aid in the locomotion, a friendly enthuiast jumped into a runabout and circled in back of Miller's craft, hoping that the swells would help it along.

But is was of no avail as Grenier, who had been chasing Miller down the river, buzzed across the finish line before Cliff could get there.

Following Miller home in Class A was Ken Myers, 23, Philmont machinist. Third was Marcel Raveau, 52, boat builder from Lindenhurst, L. I. Jimmy Relyea, 16, of Highland, took second place in Class F, while third went to Bob Viega, 18, a truck driver from Troy.

136 for Tom Fool

New York, July 7 (AP) — Tom Fool, Greentree's handicap champion, will tote 136 pounds in the $50,000-added Brooklyn Handicap at Aqueduct Saturday. Unbeaten in five starts this year, Tom Fool will give from 10 to 31 pounds to his rivals, according to the assignments made yesterday by handicapper John B. Campbell.

Shields on Leave To Defend State Golf Laurels

Albany, July 7 (AP)—Seaman Billy Shields of the U. S. Navy will defend his golf crown at the New York State Amateur tournament opening Wednesday at Utica.

Dr. Kenneth Shields, the champion's father, said last night that Billy had obtained leave from the Bainbridge, Md., Naval Training station to defend the title he won in 1951 and 1952. Shiels, a 25-year-old reservist, went on active duty nine weeks ago.

He will meet Howard Olstead of Buffalo in the first round at Yahnundasis Country Club. The tournament ends Sunday.

Shields, of Woolfert's Roost, Albany, will be paired with Howard Olmstead, Buffalo Country Club.

Area players competing in this year's tournament include Harry Affron, Southern Dutchess, Beacon; Ken March and Harry Spears, Port Jervis; Jim Molinaro, College Hill, Poughkeepsie; Harry Ostrander Jr., IBM Poughkeepsie; William McLaughlin, Henry Kowal and Bill Bogle, Dutchess Golf Club, Poughkeepsie.

No Ulster county player attempted to qualify for this year's tournament.

The SCOREBOARD

(By The Associated Press)

The St. Louis Browns may be losing themselves right out of a new home. At least they're doing a thorough job of losing in their old one.

Going into tonight's game with the pennant-aspiring Cleveland Indians, the hapless Browns are all even with the major league record for consecutive defeats in their own park.

They dropped No. 19 last night, an 11-inning 8-7 struggle with the Detroit Tigers. Only the Boston Red Sox of 1906 lost that many games in a row at home. The Browns' last victory in St. Louis was June 2.

The Browns have now slipped to within four percentage points of the last-place Tigers.

Cleveland Second

Cleveland took over second place by defeating Chicago, 6-3, but lost a half a game in its pursuit of the front running New York Yankees, who won twice from Philadelphia, 10-5, and 5-3. The Indians trail by 6½ and the White Sox by seven. Boston strengthened its hold on a first division berth, edging Washington, 2-1.

In the National League, the Brooklyn Dodgers smothered the harmless Pittsburgh Pirates, 14-2, and gained ground on all of their close rivals. The second place Milwaukee Braves and third place St. Louis Cardinals were idle and fourth place Philadelphia bowed, 6-0, to the two-hit major league debut of the New York Giants' Allan Worthington.

Chicago came from behind to nip Cincinnati, 7-6, despite Ted Kluszewski's 25th home run for the Redlegs.

Brooklyn leads Milwaukee by two games and the Cardinals by 3½.

Mickey Mantle pinch hit for the Yankees and hit a grand slam home run in the first game. Allie Reynolds came to Vic Raschi's rescue in the second game and received credit for his seventh victory. The twin defeats ran the A's losing streak to eight.

Rosen Hits 21st

Al Rosen and Dale Mitchell led a 13-hit Cleveland attack. Rosen hit his 21st home run and Mitchell collected a double and two singles in running his hitting streak to 16 games.

Ivan Delock scattered seven Washington hits in his first major league start of the season but it took a pinch hit single in the ninth by Ted Lepico to beat southpaw Tommy Byrne.

The distance-hitting Dodgers equalled the National League record for home runs in consecutive games when Carl Furillo, Gil Hodges and Billy Cox connected against the Pirates. The Dodgers have hit one or more homers in 19 straight games.

Worthington, a former Alabama football player just off the Giants' Minneapolis farm, pitched hitless ball until Smokey Burgess doubled with two out in the fifth. The righthander then checked the Phillies completely until two were out in the ninth when Johnny Wyrostek doubled.

Phillies' Tryout School Excludes Legion Teams

Players who are eligible for, or signed to play with, Junior American Legion baseball teams this year, will be excluded from the Philadelphia Phillies tryout school on July 13-14 at municipal stadium.

According to word from the Phillies headquarters in Philadelphia, these youngsters are purposely excluded from tryout schools, because the Phils do not want to interrupt any programs of this nature.

There have been complaints from American Legion baseball directors scattered around the country that tryout schools and other promotions of that nature have hindered the Legion program.

The Phillies, however, have for years adhered to a policy of excluding players in that category.

Colgan in Charge

Pat Colgan, Phillie scout, will be in charge of the school.

Director of tryout schools for the Phils farm system, Colgan has had a long career in baseball. Prior to taking over his duties as director in 1950, he managed Utica, in the Eastern League; Terre Haute, Indiana, of the Three-Eye League and Carbondale, Pa. of the North Atlantic League in 1947. Colgan will be recalled by local organized baseball fans as a fiery but competent manager.

Last year Colgan operated 15 schools in the United States and Canada and screened in the neighborhood of 1,300 boys.

Jones Assists

Dale Jones, the Phils scout for New York, Canada and the northwest Pennsylvania area, will assist Colgan. Before joining the farm system, Jones pitched for the Phillies and several other teams in organized baseball and at one time was a member of the Detroit Tigers' organization. For several years he was coach of pitchers for the Phillies and their farm clubs.

Everybody reporting will be put through the regular school course, with every chance to prove his ability, Colgan says. Expenses incident to attending this camp will be refunded to boys signed to a contract.

The Fighting Phils, 1950 National League pennant winners, have extensive farm holdings and the school is designed to uncover promising youngsters for the club.

Boys are requested to bring their own glove, uniform and shoes when reporting to the field.

When Michigan State's Stan Drobac and Tom Belton won the Big Ten No. 1 doubles championship this year, it marked the third straight year the Spartans had won this tennis title.

Fourth Win For Indians

Indians had a few anxious moments with the Pirates yesterday, but finally won out, 11-9, for their fourth win in five starts in the second round of the National Little League.

Each team got eight hits, with Jack Fischer the winning pitcher over Mike Spada and Charlie Fuscardo. Sam Perry pounded a double and two singles for Indians.

Ray Spadafora hit a single and double and Paul Turck and John Fiore had two singles apiece for the losers.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

The morning after the weekend: Years from now young Cliff Miller may be able to look back on more eventful days when he ran out of gas under far more pleasant circumstances. But it will be a while before Chick Miller's 15-year-old offspring forgets that horrendous experience of last Saturday at Poughkeepsie.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

A timely statement from Commodore Ted Riccobono or Vern Radel would clear the air and establish the future status of the KPBA regatta, a traditional fixture on the July sports calendar. Maybe it was only wishful thinking on the part of some KPBA officials who said the 1953 event would be the last one. It is understandable if the KPBA is slightly chagrined at public reaction to their annual promotion. They put a lot of money and hard work into their extravaganza but crowds have been falling off in recent years, despite the high quality of performers. Whereas 10,000 folks should attend, the crowds have been ranging well under 5,000. Some people believe the parking problem hurts the attendance. If that's a factor, it's only a minor one. Like every other sports promotion in the community, the KPBA regatta faces a hard battle for survival. We sincerely hope they are planning to continue the feature. Sports fixtures are becoming increasingly rare in this area. Meanwhile, a word from Radel or Riccobono, please.

• Of Men and Mice:

Glasco's four-team Little League is now in full swing. Coach Bill Straub of Saugerties High working on a Little Bigger League for the village. And we hear reports that the proposed 16-17 circuit in Kingston will play its games under the stadium mazdas. Nicest thing that happened at the Woodstock Country Club over the weekend (with all due respects to Boyer Gonzales and George Svirsky) was the "37" fired by Miska Petersham, the illustrator, on the first nine of the Warren Townley Memorial. It was easily the most popular "37" in the history of the club. Miska tailed off somewhat in ensuing rounds, but what man worries about that when he has broken 40 for the first time in 15 years. It didn't take Hammerin' Hank Kemmerer long to stir up action between Ellenville and Kingston keglers. Hank, recently removed to that village and off the Miron Lumber HVBL roster, has arranged a home-and-home challenge match. First block Thursday at Ellenville, with the return in Kingston Saturday. And Richard Howard makes his debut as Kemmerer's replacement in the forthcoming duel.

William R. Scully and Max Brugmann returned from a golf safari to Lake Mohonk and reported medal scores of 57 and 58 for nine holes. These gentlemen may not be golfers, but they're honest. Raymond Radel has replaced Art Hoffman as manager of the National Little League Braves and has James Bradford as coach. Hoffman resigned on June 19. Bob Early, big lefthander of the NFA Duso baseball champions, received a slight bonus when he signed with the Brooklyn Dodgers. He has been assigned to a Class D nine. George Telepas, ex-KHS southpaw, has Austin Knickerbocker of Dutchess county as his manager with Mayfield, Ky. of the Class D Kitty League. Which reminds us that the greatest high school pitcher in KHS history—Clark Mains—is spending a week's leave with his family at Port Ewen. George Palmateer, the Poughkeepsie spts. ed., recently toured the eastern states on vacation. During his travels he encountered Bob Stone at Trenton, N. J. and Chuck Healy, former Bridge City sportscaster, who is Buffalo's top television sports personality of the day.

Maybe you know this guy. The fellow who sits in the bleachers, razzes the umpires, criticizes the league officials and rides the ball players . . . until he's asked to umpire. These lines are not original but they're pertinent:

The Little League is a lot of fun
But success depends on everyone.
The team, the crowd, both large and small
Must pull together one and all.
You may think the ump can't see
And with his decisions disagree,
But, tell me this and tell me true,
When they ask for umps, just where are you?
Cheer and yell, enjoy the game
Relax, have fun, be glad you came
But to rant and rave is far from great
And youngsters watch, then imitate.
So let's be fair and please take heed,
Don't shame yourself by word or deed.
Your conduct shows your point of view.
I'm keeping quiet. Are you?

New League Plans First Workout

First workout for all candidates for the proposed 16-17 year-old baseball league at municipal stadium is scheduled this evening. No further registrations will be accepted after today's workout, Andrew Murphy III said today.

League coaches will be present to screen talent at today's drill and make mental notes for the league draft which will be held the week of July 13 at the Recreation Center.

Four teams will be chosen and uniforms will be ordered as soon as the draft is completed. The league plans Sunday and Tuesday night games at the stadium.

Bantam Ben Attention Getter

Texas Bantam Ben Hogan is the center of attraction as part of a crowd of about 3,000 watch him chip on to the 14th green at Burnside golf course at Carnoustie, Scotland, July 6. Ben was playing in the opening qualifying round of the British Open Golf tournament and he posted a 70. With that qualifying round behind him, he moves over to the championship course July 7.

Heavy Interest Seen in Annual DeWitt Races

A record breaking entry list is predicted by Lou Schafer for the seventh annual DeWitt Lake swimming races on Sunday, July 19. The YMCA physical director, who conducts the annual meet, said that many contestants reported for workouts at DeWitt Lake over the holiday period. The big feature is the "DeWitt 300" for men and women. There will be races for boys and girls starting at 12 years of age. Information on the races can be had by calling the lake's resort store or Kingston, 706-W-2.

Giants Cop First Win

Giants got a fast start to trounce the Yankees, 10-3, yesterday for their first victory in the American Little League's second round.

Timmy Fisher permitted only four hits and fanned nine. Giants collected eight off Joe Clark, including Mike Amato's double and three singles. Fisher had two hits and Gerry McDonough rapped a pair for the Yankees.

Red Sox and Dodgers, both 3-1, clash in big game today.

Elks Take 4th Straight, 5-1 Over Legion in FYL

Turck's 2-Hitter, Homer Stand Out

Tony Turck pitched a 2-hitter and cracked a home run as the powerful Elks Club kept rolling yesterday with a 5 to 1 victory over the American Legion in the Fraternal Youth League.

It was the fourth straight triumph for the Antlers, who are threatening to make a runaway of the 1953 pennant chase.

The lone tally off Turck was unearned. The Elks made only four hits off Bob Maines but a couple of errors, a wild pitch and Turck's climax homer set up a four-run rally in the fourth.

No player on either side had more than one hit. Turck, who fanned two and walked eight, issued singles to Tony Amato and Don Van Buren.

Jack Redmond hit a double for the Elks and the other blows were singles by Bob Burns, Jim Nerone and Turck.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST By Hal Sharp

POPPING BUGS TO GET THE BASS....

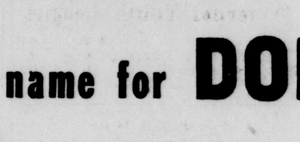
A POPPING BUG IS ONE OF THE DEADLIEST LURES WHEN BASS ARE FEEDING ON OR NEAR THE SURFACE. WHEN YOU HEAR OR SEE THE SPLASH OF A RISING BASS CAST TO IT AS SOON AS YOU CAN. LET BUG LIE MOTIONLESS FOR A COUNT OF 10 THEN 'POP' IT ONCE. POP AGAIN AT 10 AND SO ON. BASS MAY STRIKE BEFORE 1ST POP IF CAST IS QUICK AND ACCURATE. KEEP ROD-TIP LOW FOR STRIKE, POPPING BUG WITH A QUICK JERK OF LINE IN LEFT HAND AS YOU GIVE ROD-TIP A SLIGHT WHIP.



LET BUG LIE STILL FOR 15 OR 20 MINUTES. THIS OFTEN IRRITATES A NON-STRIKING BASS INTO STRIKING IT TO GET IT OUT OF HIS SIGHT!

Locke Tops Hogan 71-75

Carnoustie, Scotland, July 7 (AP)—Bobby Locke of South Africa, defending champion, shot a fine 71 on Carnoustie's rain and wind-swept championship course today to make him top bidder for medalist honors in the British Open golf championship while Ben Hogan of Texas shot a 75.

Locke had a five-under unofficial par 65 yesterday on the easier Burnside course, and ended the qualifying round with a 136. Hogan, U. S. Open champion from Fort Worth, Tex., had a 70 yesterday at Burnside, and had a qualifying score of 145 as his putting was erratic throughout.

Phillies' Tryout School Excludes Legion Teams

Players who are eligible for, or signed to play with, Junior American Legion baseball teams this year, will be excluded from the Philadelphia Phillies tryout school on July 13-14 at municipal stadium.

According to word from the Phillies headquarters in Philadelphia, these youngsters are purposely excluded from tryout schools, because the Phils do not want to interrupt any programs of this nature.

There have been complaints from American Legion baseball directors scattered around the country that tryout schools and other promotions of that nature have hindered the Legion program.

The Phillies, however, have for years adhered to a policy of excluding players in that category.

Colgan in Charge

Pat Colgan, Phillie scout, will be in charge of the school.

Director of tryout schools for the Phils farm system, Colgan has had a long career in baseball. Prior to taking over his duties as director in 1950, he managed Utica, in the Eastern League; Terre Haute, Indiana, of the Three-Eye League and Carbondale, Pa. of the North Atlantic League in 1947. Colgan will be recalled by local organized baseball fans as a fiery but competent manager.

Last year Colgan operated 15 schools in the United States and Canada and screened in the neighborhood of 1,300 boys.

Jones Assists

Dale Jones, the Phils scout for New York, Canada and the northwest Pennsylvania area, will assist Colgan. Before joining the farm system, Jones pitched for the Phillies and several other teams in organized baseball and at one time was a member of the Detroit Tigers' organization. For several years he was coach of pitchers for the Phillies and their farm clubs.

Everybody reporting will be put through the regular school course, with every chance to prove his ability, Colgan says. Expenses incident to attending this camp will be refunded to boys signed to a contract.

The Fighting Phils, 1950 National League pennant winners, have extensive farm holdings and the school is designed to uncover promising youngsters for the club.

Boys are requested to bring their own glove, uniform and shoes when reporting to the field.

When Michigan State's Stan Drobac and Tom Belton won the Big Ten No. 1 doubles championship this year, it marked the third straight year the Spartans had won this tennis title.

Fourth Win For Indians

Indians had a few anxious moments with the Pirates yesterday, but finally won out, 11-9, for their fourth win in five starts in the second round of the National Little League.

Each team got eight hits, with Jack Fischer the winning pitcher over Mike Spada and Charlie Fuscardo. Sam Perry pounded a double and two singles for Indians.

Ray Spadafora hit a single and double and Paul Turck and John Fiore had two singles apiece for the losers.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

The morning after the weekend: Years from now young Cliff Miller may be able to look back on more eventful days when he ran out of gas under far more pleasant circumstances. But it will be a while before Chick Miller's 15-year-old offspring forgets that horrendous experience of last Saturday at Poughkeepsie.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

A timely statement from Commodore Ted Riccobono or Vern Radel would clear the air and establish the future status of the KPBA regatta, a traditional fixture on the July sports calendar. Maybe it was only wishful thinking on the part of some KPBA officials who said the 1953 event would be the last one. It is understandable if the KPBA is slightly chagrined at public reaction to their annual promotion. They put a lot of money and hard work into their extravaganza but crowds have been falling off in recent years, despite the high quality of performers. Whereas 10,000 folks should attend, the crowds have been ranging well under 5,000. Some people believe the parking problem hurts the attendance. If that's a factor, it's only a minor one. Like every other sports promotion in the community, the KPBA regatta faces a hard battle for survival. We sincerely hope they are planning to continue the feature. Sports fixtures are becoming increasingly rare in this area. Meanwhile, a word from Radel or Riccobono, please.

• Of Men and Mice:

Glasco's four-team Little League is now in full swing. Coach Bill Straub of Saugerties High working on a Little Bigger League for the village. And we hear reports that the proposed 16-17 circuit in Kingston will play its games under the stadium mazdas. Nicest thing that happened at the Woodstock Country Club over the weekend (with all due respects to Boyer Gonzales and George Svirsky) was the "37" fired by Miska Petersham, the illustrator, on the first nine of the Warren Townley Memorial. It was easily the most popular "37" in the history of the club. Miska tailed off somewhat in ensuing rounds, but what man worries about that when he has broken 40 for the first time in 15 years. It didn't take Hammerin' Hank Kemmerer long to stir up action between Ellenville and Kingston keglers. Hank, recently removed to that village and off the Miron Lumber HVBL roster, has arranged a home-and-home challenge match. First block Thursday at Ellenville, with the return in Kingston Saturday. And Richard Howard makes his debut as Kemmerer's replacement in the forthcoming duel.

William R. Scully and Max Brugmann returned from a golf safari to Lake Mohonk and reported medal scores of 57 and 58 for nine holes. These gentlemen may not be golfers, but they're honest. Raymond Radel has replaced Art Hoffman as manager of the National Little League Braves and has James Bradford as coach. Hoffman resigned on June 19. Bob Early, big lefthander of the NFA Duso baseball champions, received a slight bonus when he signed with the Brooklyn Dodgers. He has been assigned to a Class D nine. George Telepas, ex-KHS southpaw, has Austin Knickerbocker of Dutchess county as his manager with Mayfield, Ky. of the Class D Kitty League. Which reminds us that the greatest high school pitcher in KHS history—Clark Mains—is spending a week's leave with his family at Port Ewen. George Palmateer, the Poughkeepsie spts. ed., recently toured the eastern states on vacation. During his travels he encountered Bob Stone at Trenton, N. J. and Chuck Healy, former Bridge City sportscaster, who is Buffalo's top television sports personality of the day.

Bantam Ben Attention Getter

Texas Bantam Ben Hogan is the center of attraction as part of a crowd of about 3,000 watch him chip on to the 14th green at Burnside golf course at Carnoustie, Scotland, July 6. Ben was playing in the opening qualifying round of the British Open Golf tournament and he posted a 70. With that qualifying round behind him, he moves over to the championship course July 7.

Heavy Interest Seen in Annual DeWitt Races

A record breaking entry list is predicted by Lou Schafer for the seventh annual DeWitt Lake swimming races on Sunday, July 19. The YMCA physical director, who conducts the annual meet, said that many contestants reported for workouts at DeWitt Lake over the holiday period. The big feature is the "DeWitt 300" for men and women. There will be races for boys and girls starting at 12 years of age. Information on the races can be had by calling the lake's resort store or Kingston, 706-W-2.

Giants Cop First Win

Giants got a fast start to trounce the Yankees, 10-3, yesterday for their first victory in the American Little League's second round.

Timmy Fisher permitted only four hits and fanned nine. Giants collected eight off Joe Clark, including Mike Amato's double and three singles. Fisher had two hits and Gerry McDonough rapped a pair for the Yankees.

Red Sox and Dodgers, both 3-1, clash in big game today.

Elks Take 4th Straight, 5-1 Over Legion in FYL

Turck's 2-Hitter, Homer Stand Out

Tony Turck pitched a 2-hitter and cracked a home run as the powerful Elks Club kept rolling yesterday with a 5 to 1 victory over the American Legion in the Fraternal Youth League.

It was the fourth straight triumph for the Antlers, who are threatening to make a runaway of the 1953 pennant chase.

The lone tally off Turck was unearned. The Elks made only four hits off Bob Maines but a couple of errors, a wild pitch and Turck's climax homer set up a four-run rally in the fourth.

No player on either side had more than one hit. Turck, who fanned two and walked eight, issued singles to Tony Amato and Don Van Buren.

Jack Redmond hit a double for the Elks and the other blows were singles by Bob Burns, Jim Nerone and Turck.

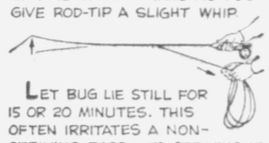
SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST By Hal Sharp

POPPING BUGS TO GET THE BASS....

A POPPING BUG IS ONE OF THE DEADLIEST LURES WHEN BASS ARE FEEDING ON OR NEAR THE SURFACE. WHEN YOU HEAR OR SEE THE SPLASH OF A RISING BASS CAST TO IT AS SOON AS YOU CAN. LET BUG LIE MOTIONLESS FOR A COUNT OF 10 THEN 'POP' IT ONCE. POP AGAIN AT 10 AND SO ON. BASS MAY STRIKE BEFORE 1ST POP IF CAST IS QUICK AND ACCURATE. KEEP ROD-TIP LOW FOR STRIKE, POPPING BUG WITH A QUICK JERK OF LINE IN LEFT HAND AS YOU GIVE ROD-TIP A SLIGHT WHIP.



LET BUG LIE STILL FOR 15 OR 20 MINUTES. THIS OFTEN IRRITATES A NON-STRIKING BASS INTO STRIKING IT TO GET IT OUT OF HIS SIGHT.

Locke Tops Hogan 71-75

Carnoustie, Scotland, July 7 (AP)—Bobby Locke of South Africa, defending champion, shot a fine 71 on Carnoustie's rain and wind-swept championship course today to make him top bidder for medalist honors in the British Open golf championship while Ben Hogan of Texas shot a 75.

Locke had a five-under unofficial par 65 yesterday on the easier Burnside course, and ended the qualifying round with a 136. Hogan, U. S. Open champion from Fort Worth, Tex., had a 70 yesterday at Burnside, and had a qualifying score of 145 as his putting was erratic throughout.

DEPENDABILITY
is the other name for DODGE!

Over the years, Dodge cars have rewarded millions of owners with a matchless quality: Dependability. Now this word has been given new meaning by the greatest Dodge of them all—the '53 Action Car:

Dependable Economy
In the 1953 Mobilgas Economy Run, the Dodge V-8 beat all other cars in its class . . . outperformed all 8's in every price class to establish Dodge as America's Top Economy 8!

Dependable Power-for-Safety
Ten days later, the same Dodge V-8 set 2 new official AAA performance records for standard American cars. Proof of reserve power-for-safety.

Dependable Comfort
Dodge Modern Design does away with "meaningless metal" and waste space outside—provides more comfort space than ever inside. You enjoy more head-room, leg-room and elbow-room.

Dependable Handling Ease
Dodge for '53 brings you new mastery of the road, new maneuverability in traffic, new parking ease. It snugs down on curves like a true sports car.

Dependable Extra-Value Features
Safeguard hydraulic brakes with two brake cylinders in each front wheel . . . Oriflow ride control . . . Safety-Rim wheels . . . electric windshield wipers . . . foam rubber seat cushions . . . waterproof ignition system . . . and many others.

DODGE V-EIGHT CORONET DIPLOMAT

Here is our invitation! Come in for a "Road Test Ride." Find out all that Dodge Dependability means in terms of economical power, safety power, riding comfort and handling ease. There is no obligation. You will discover a new kind of car, a new kind of driving enjoyment . . . at prices that start below many models in the "lowest-priced" field.

Specifications and equipment subject to change without notice.

Two Court Cases Adjourned Week

Two city court cases involving a person charged with driving a car while intoxicated and another concerning a woman charged with assault, third degree, were adjourned this morning until Tuesday, July 14, by City Judge Raymond J. Mino.

William Vincent Bradley, 23, of 32 Ponckhockie street, who police said was arrested while operating his car while intoxicated, pleaded not guilty.

He was released on bail of $100 and his case was put off until next week.

Bradley was arrested today at 1:56 a. m. on Broadway near Henry street by Patrolman George Loughran, Charles McCullough and Floyd Krom and was represented in court by Attorney John Larkin.

Caroline Rossi, 58, of 18 Cedar street, also was released on $100 bail when she pleaded not guilty and her case was adjourned upon request when she appeared in court today to answer the charge of assault third degree, placed against her by Glenford Miller.

Miller was reported as claiming that he had been struck about the face with a stick causing bodily harm.

According to the police report, the defendant was arrested at 5:53 p. m. Monday when police received a call to Broadway and Cedar street. Attorney William A. Kaercher represented the woman in court.

Another case involving an alleged assault, third degree charge, was dismissed by Judge Mino this morning when the complainant failed to appear. The police record reported Egbert Gilmore, 52, of 53 Tompkins street, was placed under arrest on a complaint made by his wife, Ida Gilmore.

Fire companies scheduled to take part in the program are Esopus, St. Remy, Rifton, Connelly and Port Ewen.

Extent of Demonstration

Demonstrations will cover the methods of fighting fires with modern equipment and how various conflagrations are handled by firemen to bring them under quick control.

The announcement said that firemen will demonstrate the handling of equipment on one of the larger buildings in Port Ewen village, using it as they would in fighting a big fire.

Juan's Odyssey:

first available flight. He returned here yesterday.

Back to Idlewild

Pan-American sent him into Manhattan from Idlewild to spend the day at a hotel, but he was afraid he would be forgotten and he asked to return to Idlewild. The airline agreed.

He sat in a wheel chair at the airport and chatted wth other Puerto Ricans. Pan-American, which paid the bill for his unexpected wanderings, treated him to dinner.

The airline also notified relatives in Puerto Rico that he was coming, but Martinez said he was sure they were not concerned by the delay. He said:

"After all, they didn't know when I was coming."

Then just before last midnight he was put aboard a non-stop flight to San Juan.

Martinez, who has two sons in the army in Korea, quipped as he boarded the plane:

"This time they'll probably send me to Korea."

A friendly welcome awaits you

Two Court Cases Adjourned Week

Two city court cases involving a person charged with driving a car while intoxicated and another concerning a woman charged with assault, third degree, were adjourned this morning until Tuesday, July 14, by City Judge Raymond J. Mino.

William Vincent Bradley, 23, of 32 Ponckhockie street, who police said was arrested while operating his car while intoxicated, pleaded not guilty.

He was released on bail of $100 and his case was put off until next week.

Bradley was arrested today at 1:56 a. m. on Broadway near Henry street by Patrolman George Loughran, Charles McCullough and Floyd Krom and was represented in court by Attorney John Larkin.

Caroline Rossi, 58, of 18 Cedar street, also was released on $100 bail when she pleaded not guilty and her case was adjourned upon request when she appeared in court today to answer the charge of assault third degree, placed against her by Glenford Miller.

Miller was reported as claiming that he had been struck about the face with a stick causing bodily harm.

According to the police report, the defendant was arrested at 5:53 p. m. Monday when police received a call to Broadway and Cedar street. Attorney William A. Kaercher represented the woman in court.

Another case involving an alleged assault, third degree charge, was dismissed by Judge Mino this morning when the complainant failed to appear. The police record reported Egbert Gilmore, 52, of 53 Tompkins street, was placed under arrest on a complaint made by his wife, Ida Gilmore.

Fire companies scheduled to take part in the program are Esopus, St. Remy, Rifton, Connelly and Port Ewen.

Extent of Demonstration

Demonstrations will cover the methods of fighting fires with modern equipment and how various conflagrations are handled by firemen to bring them under quick control.

The announcement said that firemen will demonstrate the handling of equipment on one of the larger buildings in Port Ewen village, using it as they would in fighting a big fire.

Juan's Odyssey:

first available flight. He returned here yesterday.

Back to Idlewild

Pan-American sent him into Manhattan from Idlewild to spend the day at a hotel, but he was afraid he would be forgotten and he asked to return to Idlewild. The airline agreed.

He sat in a wheel chair at the airport and chatted wth other Puerto Ricans. Pan-American, which paid the bill for his unexpected wanderings, treated him to dinner.

The airline also notified relatives in Puerto Rico that he was coming, but Martinez said he was sure they were not concerned by the delay. He said:

"After all, they didn't know when I was coming."

Then just before last midnight he was put aboard a non-stop flight to San Juan.

Martinez, who has two sons in the army in Korea, quipped as he boarded the plane:

"This time they'll probably send me to Korea."

A friendly welcome awaits you

1,500 Attend 50 Club Field Day And Flag Program

More than 1,500 adults and children attended the July 4 program at Block Park arranged and sponsored by the 50 Club as its annual event, and this year the feature was the dedication of an American flag and a service flag in honor of the young men from the Seventh Ward who lost their lives in the service of their country.

66 Prizes Awarded

Races and other events were held under the direction of the Kingston Recreation Department, and prizes donated by public spirited citizens, cooperating with the 50 Club, were awarded to the winners. Sixty-six prizes were handed out and during the afternoon the children ate 2,640 hot dogs, drank 145 cases of soda and consumed 2,000 cups of ice cream.

Alderman Thomas Coughlin of the Seventh Ward was general chairman of the field day. The Rev. Dr. Frank L. Gollnick, pastor of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, gave the invocation and benediction for dedication of the flag and Alderman-at-Large Joe Kelly, a member of the 50 Club, complimented the organization for promoting its fourth annual field day, a real treat for the children, and remembering the servicemen of the ward who gave their lives for their country.

Servicemen of the ward acted as a color guard for the raising of the flags, representing the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Marine Corps League.

Rain Dampens Woods

Albany, July 7 (AP)—Rain has dampened the forest fire danger in some sections of the Adirondack Mountains, but patches of timber are still burning. Rangers reported that heavy rain fell on some parts of the drouth-stricken woodland yesterday and light showers on other areas. A severe electrical storm knocked out telephone and power service at Old Forge for about four hours. A fire that scorched about 80 acres of maple and birch was burning in the Sand Pond area of northern Herkimer county. Rangers said it was under control. The Conservation Department said 10 other fires were under control yesterday.

Laundry Mark Leads to Capture Of Alleged Thieves

New York, July 7 (AP)—A telltale laundry mark led to the booking today of three alleged theatre bandits after a rooftop chase in which police fired seven shots.

Detectives said the laundry mark was in a shirt given to a theatre porter by one of the suspects to replace one that became bloodied as the porter was slugged and pistol-whipped in an attempt to make him reveal the theatre layout.

The three-prisoners — captured last night and formally charged at 2 a. m. (EST)—were accused of yesterday morning's daylight $2,822 holdup of the big Paramount theatre in the heart of downtown Brooklyn.

The three, booked on charges of assault, robbery, kidnaping and violation of the Sullivan Anti-weapons Law, were listed as Joseph Magnicari, 28; Vito De Muro, 17, and Salvatore Ferrara, 19, all of Brooklyn.

Fourth Is Sought

A fourth suspect was sought.

The stickup was staged by two men, one holding a gun, who forced Angelo Calderaro, treasurer and assistant manager of the theatre, to open the safe. They bound Calderaro and an usher, and fled.

The case started to break yesterday afternoon when Moses Cain, 48, a Negro porter employed at the theatre, staggered into a police station in a battered and bloody condition.

Police said the porter told them four men snatched him off the street and forced him into a car at gunpoint after midnight Sunday as he was walking home from work. He said they took him to a house in Brooklyn — allegedly Magnicari's — and held him prisoner 12 hours. Cain said he was beaten when he refused to give his captors information about the arrival time of the theatre manager. The location of his office and other details.

Free to Go

The porter said his captors finally told him he was free to go —after the holdup had been staged by two of the men who left the house and later returned.

"Wait a minute," one of the captors said to Cain. "You can't go out with the bloody shirt."

The men ripped off the shirt. One of the men took a shirt from a bureau drawer, tore the laundry tag from the collar and gave the fresh shirt to Cain. He was driven off in a car and dumped out.

Detectives sent the porter's "gift" shirt to the police laboratory, and another laundry mark was found on the shirt tail. This led to a laundry, and then to a customer—Magnicari.

Police posted a watch at his house, and broke in after the three men had driven up in two cars and entered. Magnicari was seized as he fled to the attic. The two youths fled out a rear window and were captured after the rooftop chase. Ferrara was carrying a .45 caliber automatic. About $300 was recovered from the trio.

1,500 Attend 50 Club Field Day And Flag Program

More than 1,500 adults and children attended the July 4 program at Block Park arranged and sponsored by the 50 Club as its annual event, and this year the feature was the dedication of an American flag and a service flag in honor of the young men from the Seventh Ward who lost their lives in the service of their country.

66 Prizes Awarded

Races and other events were held under the direction of the Kingston Recreation Department, and prizes donated by public spirited citizens, cooperating with the 50 Club, were awarded to the winners. Sixty-six prizes were handed out and during the afternoon the children ate 2,640 hot dogs, drank 145 cases of soda and consumed 2,000 cups of ice cream.

Alderman Thomas Coughlin of the Seventh Ward was general chairman of the field day. The Rev. Dr. Frank L. Gollnick, pastor of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, gave the invocation and benediction for dedication of the flag and Alderman-at-Large Joe Kelly, a member of the 50 Club, complimented the organization for promoting its fourth annual field day, a real treat for the children, and remembering the servicemen of the ward who gave their lives for their country.

Servicemen of the ward acted as a color guard for the raising of the flags, representing the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Marine Corps League.

Rain Dampens Woods

Albany, July 7 (AP)—Rain has dampened the forest fire danger in some sections of the Adirondack Mountains, but patches of timber are still burning. Rangers reported that heavy rain fell on some parts of the drouth-stricken woodland yesterday and light showers on other areas. A severe electrical storm knocked out telephone and power service at Old Forge for about four hours. A fire that scorched about 80 acres of maple and birch was burning in the Sand Pond area of northern Herkimer county. Rangers said it was under control. The Conservation Department said 10 other fires were under control yesterday.

Laundry Mark Leads to Capture Of Alleged Thieves

New York, July 7 (AP)—A telltale laundry mark led to the booking today of three alleged theatre bandits after a rooftop chase in which police fired seven shots.

Detectives said the laundry mark was in a shirt given to a theatre porter by one of the suspects to replace one that became bloodied as the porter was slugged and pistol-whipped in an attempt to make him reveal the theatre layout.

The three-prisoners — captured last night and formally charged at 2 a. m. (EST)—were accused of yesterday morning's daylight $2,822 holdup of the big Paramount theatre in the heart of downtown Brooklyn.

The three, booked on charges of assault, robbery, kidnaping and violation of the Sullivan Anti-weapons Law, were listed as Joseph Magnicari, 28; Vito De Muro, 17, and Salvatore Ferrara, 19, all of Brooklyn.

Fourth Is Sought

A fourth suspect was sought.

The stickup was staged by two men, one holding a gun, who forced Angelo Calderaro, treasurer and assistant manager of the theatre, to open the safe. They bound Calderaro and an usher, and fled.

The case started to break yesterday afternoon when Moses Cain, 48, a Negro porter employed at the theatre, staggered into a police station in a battered and bloody condition.

Police said the porter told them four men snatched him off the street and forced him into a car at gunpoint after midnight Sunday as he was walking home from work. He said they took him to a house in Brooklyn — allegedly Magnicari's — and held him prisoner 12 hours. Cain said he was beaten when he refused to give his captors information about the arrival time of the theatre manager. The location of his office and other details.

Free to Go

The porter said his captors finally told him he was free to go —after the holdup had been staged by two of the men who left the house and later returned.

"Wait a minute," one of the captors said to Cain. "You can't go out with the bloody shirt."

The men ripped off the shirt. One of the men took a shirt from a bureau drawer, tore the laundry tag from the collar and gave the fresh shirt to Cain. He was driven off in a car and dumped out.

Detectives sent the porter's "gift" shirt to the police laboratory, and another laundry mark was found on the shirt tail. This led to a laundry, and then to a customer—Magnicari.

Police posted a watch at his house, and broke in after the three men had driven up in two cars and entered. Magnicari was seized as he fled to the attic. The two youths fled out a rear window and were captured after the rooftop chase. Ferrara was carrying a .45 caliber automatic. About $300 was recovered from the trio.
